

CORONERS INQUEST REPORTS

Burbage

1836

And on the 9th, at Collingbourn Kingston, Philip Highett, who lived at Burbage, and died the previous Tuesday, from apoplexy, occasioned by drunkenness, as he was returning home from Stockbridge with an empty cart, accompanied by a person named Robert Barley. Verdict, Natural death. Salisbury and Wiltshire Journal 18 April 1836