Burbage

BURBAGE is a village and parish, in the Southern division of the county, Kinwardstone hundred, Pewsey union, Marlborough county court district, diocese of Salisbury, archdeaconry of Wilts, and rural deanery of Marlborough, on the road from Marlborough to Salisbury, 10 miles south-west from Hungerford, 71 from London, 6 south-east from Marlborough, 23 from Salisbury, and 17 from Devizes, having within the parish the Savernake station of the Berks and Hants Extension Railway. The church of All Saints is a Gothic stone building, restored in 1854, excepting the tower: it has a nave, 2 aisles, chancel, embattled tower, and 6 bells. The register dates from 1561. The Living is a vicarage, annual net income £363, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held by the Rev. Thomas Stanton, M.A., or Christ's College, Cambridge, prebendary of Salisbury and J.P. The Marquis of Ailesbury is the lay rector. There are National schools for boys, girls, and infants; also a chapel for Wesleyans. Near this village, on the side of Great Bedwyn, the Kennet and Avon Canal passes, under an old Roman road, by a tunnel a quarter of a mile in length. On the canal are wharfs and a goods station. In 1805 Mr. Philip Pearce bequeathed the sum of £2,000, the interest of which is £63 18s. 4d. from the Charity Commissioners, of which £10 is reserved for educational purposes, and the remainder given by the trustees annually about Christmas to the " second poor, who do not receive parochial relief." The Marquis of Ailesbury is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is sand; subsoil, chalk. The area is 3,283 acres, and the population in 1861 was 1,603.

Parish Clerk: Thomas Nutley.

Post Office: - William Whitchurch Nutley, sub-postmaster, Eastcott.
