Cholderton

Cholderton (formerly Chaldrington) is a parish and village on the Hampshire border, 2 miles west from Newton Tony station on the London and South Western railway, (Amesbury light railway), 5 east from Amesbury and 11 north east from Salisbury, in the Southern division of the county, hundred and union of Amesbury, petty sessional division of Salisbury and Amesbury, Salisbury County Court district, rural deanery of Amesbury (Amesbury portion), archdeaconry of Sarum and diocese of Salisbury. The church of St. Nicholas, erected and consecrated in 1850, in place of a former edifice, is a structure of flint and stone in the Perpendicular style, consisting of nave only, with a turret at the north west angle containing one bell. The seats are of oak, beautifully carved with birds, fruit and flowers, and all the windows are stained. The font of the old church stands in the churchyard. There are 122 sittings. The register dates from the year 1652. The living is a rectory, value £260, with 5 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of Oriel College Oxford and held since 1903 by the Rev. Arthur Edwin Brisco Owen M.A., of that college. A charity £12 a year, founded by Anthony Cracherode Esq in 1753 is now used for educational purposes and the balance distributed at Christmas in alms; there is also a charity of £10 a year, founded by Bishop Fraser, for the purchase of warm clothing for 10 poor inhabitants. Henry Charles Stephens Esq, J.P. is lord of the manor and chief landowner. The soil is alluvial in the valley; subsoil, chalk. The chief crops are wheat, barley and oats. The area is 1,695 acres, rateable value £1,280. The population in 1911 was 238.
