Fatal Accident at Coulston

A sad accident happened at Coulston on Thursday. A young man named Earley, aged about 20, in the employ of Mr. Bourne, was proceeding from Steeple Ashton to Erlestoke in charge of three horses and a thrashing machine, when in attempting to get on to the shaft he slipped and fell under the fore wheel, which passed over him. He was so severely injured that he died on Saturday morning. A verdict of accidental death was recorded.
