Extract from Page 912

DINTON is a parish and village situated on the river Nadder, with a station on the South Western railway, 8 miles west from Salisbury, 92 from London by railway and 5 ½ west from Wilton, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Warminster, petty sessional division of Salisbury and Amesbury, Wilton Union, Salisbury county court district, Chalke rural deanery and Salisbury archdeaconry and diocese.

The church of St Mary the Virgin is a handsome stone building in the Transition Norman, Early English, Decorated and Perpendicular styles, is cruciform, having chancel, nave and transepts, porch, with a square embattled tower rising from the intersection, with 6 fine-toned bells and clock, and was repaired and re-seated in oak in 1876, under Mr. Butterfield, at a cost of £2,000. The font is of Purbeck marble; there are 279 sittings. The parish registers are complete from the first year of Queen Elizabeth (1558); they contain the baptism of Henry Lawes, the musician, January 1st, 1600, and of Edward Hyde, the first Earl of Clarendon, February 22nd, 1608, who was born here. The Hydes were for many years lay rectors, and patrons of the living. The last possessor, Robert Hyde, died 1725, a fellow of Magdalen College, and bequeathed the rectorial rights and the patronage to his college. The Rev. John Heslop Audland M.A. late Demy of that college, has been vicar since 1886.

Dinton House, the seat of William Wyndham, esq B.A, D.L., J.P., is a large handsome stone building, commanding extensive views of the surrounding country. The Earl of Pembroke, who is lord of the manor, and W. Wyndham, esq are the principal landowners.

The soil is clay, chalk and green sand; subsoil same; many of the meadows are irrigated. The chief crops are wheat, barley, hay and apples; cider is largely made; there is also much dairy farming, butter and cheese are made, and milk is sent to the London market.

The population in 1881 was 457.
