Cooke

John

SACRED to the Memory of JOHN COOKE Esq^r. late Captain of
His Majesties ship BELLEROPHON
Who, in the Battle of TRAFALGAR
On the 21st of Oct^r. 1805
Having evinced the most consummate skill,
And Bravery
In the conflict of that eventful day,
Fell
In a moment, glorious indeed to his COUNTRY
But marked by the individual tears
Of all who knew him.
His inconsolable widow,
Places this tablet to record
His virtues and his Fate,
Near the spot which he had chosen
As his favourite retirement,
And to which,
Having left it at the call of his Country
He returned no more,
Periit Anno Ætatis 43.
Be merciful to her O God who bends,
And mourns the best of Husbands Fathers, Friends
Oh "when she wakes at midnight" but to shed,
Fresh tears of anguish on her lonely bed,
"Thinking on Him who IS NOT," then restrain
Her bitter thoughts and her sad heart sustain
FATHER of MERCYS she remembers still Thy chast'ning hand, and to thy Sov'reign will Bows silent, but not HOPELESS whilst her eye,
She raises to a bright FUTURITY,
And trusts in better worlds thou wilt restore,
The Happiness she here can meet no more.
LOUISA, Relict of the above
Departed this life at Cheltenham Feb^r. 5TH 1853,
Aged 96 Years
