

Old Hatches at Charlton All Saints

James Nicholas Crushes Hand In Hatch Accident

On Wednesday, a labourer, named James Nicholas, was passing over one of the hatches in a meadow near this village, and putting his hand upon it was entangled in the cog wheels, and was unable to extricate himself until assistance arrived. He was taken to the Salisbury Infirmary with his left hand much crushed.

Western Gazette, Friday 5 July 1867