

Barford House, 1791

Barford House, Near Downton, Wilts.

TO be LETT, ELEGANTLY furnished, and entered upon at Lady-Day next,

All those beautiful and extensive PREMISES, consisting of a spacious elegant Mansion, now in the occupation of the Right Hon. The Earl of Malmesbury, with adequate attached and detached offices of every description, coach-houses for six carriages, stabling for twenty-six horses, dog kennels, and ice-house; pleasure grounds refreshed with several fish ponds, well stocked, and a noble river, (with an extensive fishery) from which the house is supplied by an engine with excellent water; large walled gardens, with the choicest fruit trees, now in the highest perfection; a green-house, hot and succession-houses, &c. with seventeen acres of rich pasture land.

The situation of the Premises is truly picturesque, in a fine sporting country, within reach of two packs of hounds, and remarkably healthy, seven miles from Salisbury, twenty from Southampton, forty from Bath, and ninety from London.

Enquire of Mr. Wharton, No 1, Cloysters, Inner-Temple, London; Mr. Arney, Close, Salisbury; or of Mr. Mowland, Downton, Wilts; if by letter, post paid.

The Manor of Hamptworth, which is within a short distance, abounding with game, will be lett with the above.

Salisbury and Winchester Journal, Monday 6 April 1801