

Church Matters

Fonthill Gifford

1800-1899

1866

A few days since, the Bishop of Salisbury consecrated new church at Fonthill Gifford, in Wiltshire, which has been built solely at the expense of the Marquis of Westminster. The removal of the old church and the erection of the new, which is in the early English style of architecture, and of stone, have cost between £6,000 and £7,000. Wrexham Advertiser, 9 June 1866
