

Wedding Celebrations Hankerton

Eric Packer and Stella Blacklin

Mr Eric Arnold Packer, son of the Rev Edgar Packer, vicar of Hankerton, near Malmesbury, was married by his father at the parish church to Miss Stella Broderick Blacklin, younger daughter of Mr and Mrs Richard Blacklin, of Upper Norwood, London.

The service was choral, and the church was decorated with roses, sweet peas and ferns. There was a large attendance of villagers.

Given away by her brother, Mr Richard Blacklin, the bride wore an ankle length dress of pale green corded silk, with a long white veil held in position by a wreath of orange blossom. There were no bridesmaids. Mr Jack Howes, of Derbyshire, was best man.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Jesus College, Cambridge, and at present a junior departmental manager with a Manchester cloth firm.

Western Daily Press Friday 30 July 1937