

Seend

Bankruptcy Hearing of John Batch Sheppard

John Walker v John Batch Sheppard. The defendant in this case was formerly an innkeeper at Seend, where he failed last year and subsequently petitioned the court as an insolvent debtor. His petition however was dismissed, and hence the present action. Mr Walker (who is a draper in Devizes) said he had ascertained that at the very time the defendant was running up a bill at his shop, for expensive articles of dress (such as French merino at 3s 11d a yard) he was totally insolvent, and had given a bill of sale upon all his property to his brother. He felt therefore that the defendant was not entitled to any consideration at his hands.

His Honour put several questions to the insolvent, which were answered in anything but a satisfactory way.

The result was an order for his committal to prison for 14 days (but to be suspended for a week) on the ground that he had not given a statement of the manner and circumstances under which he had contracted the debt to the satisfaction of the Judge.

Devizes and Wiltshire Gazette Thursday 10 May 1860

ALSO

John Walker v John Batch Sheppard. The defendant in this case was formerly an innkeeper at Seend, where he failed last year and subsequently petitioned the court as an insolvent debtor. His petition however was dismissed, and hence the present action. Mr Walker (who is a draper in Devizes) said he had ascertained that at the very time the defendant was running up a bill at his shop, for expensive articles of dress (such as French merino at 3s 11d a yard) he was totally insolvent, and had given a bill of sale upon all his property to his brother. He felt therefore that the defendant was not entitled to any consideration at his hands.

His Honour put several questions to the insolvent, which were answered in anything but a satisfactory way.

The result was an order for his committal to prison for 14 days (but to be suspended for a week) on the ground that he had not given a statement of the manner and circumstances under which he had contracted the debt to the satisfaction of the Judge.

Devizes and Wiltshire Gazette Thursday 10 May 1860