

WILTSHIRE MISCELLANEOUS BITS AND PIECES

1731

William Haselem, a Wiltshire man belonging to Chelsea College, married a third wife. He was 100 years old, a soldier in Oliver Cromwell's time and in a good state of health - able to work at a coal wharf. Gentleman's Magazine Volume 1

1736

The cures performed by the woman bonesetter of Epsom are too many to be enumerated. She has cured people who have been above 20 years disabled. The lame came to her daily and she received a great deal of money from persons of quality. Her father is one Wallin, a bonesetter in Wiltshire. The money she got procured her a husband, but he did not stay with her above a fortnight, and then went off with 100 guineas. Source unknown

1808

Settlement Examination Guildford Surrey: John Bowles, Private soldier 14th Regt Light Dragoons. 15 years ago hired servant to John Munday, farmer of Lower Winterborne, Wiltshire, 30/- per annum. Now ordered abroad. Wife Mary and Pamela 3 yrs. Society of Genealogists Guildford Surrey Records SR/LOC B124