

CORONERS INQUESTS

Isaac Holloway

Fatal Accident

On Monday last, a labouring man at Worton, named Isaac Holloway, was engaged in loading hay, when he slipped from the top of the load and fell to the ground, breaking his neck in the fall. An inquest was held on the body by Mr. Coroner Sylvester, when the jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death."

Wiltshire Independent, Thursday, 23 July 1874