

The Night Coach. [After Rowlandson.]

ACCIDENTS - 1800-1899

1870

On Wednesday, as a young man, named William Trubridge, was riding with a friend on a waggon that was going to Wylie, the horse began to kick and striking him on the right leg caused a fracture. He was conveyed to the Salisbury Infirmary. Western Gazette, Friday, 11 March 1870