

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

INTRODUCTION

THE present volumes owe their existence to the care with which a Wiltshire gentleman of the 15th century treated the contents of his muniment chests. The MS. from which these volumes are printed was commenced by order of Thomas Tropenell, Esquire, in 1464, and was added to, as occasion needed, till his death in 1488.

The book has something of a history. It was well known to John Aubrey in the latter half of the 17th century; but it disappeared for a somewhat lengthened period, its loss being lamented by various writers on Wiltshire affairs, till it came to life suddenly a few years ago. The book remained with the Tropenell family till the original property was divided in the middle of the 16th century, when Anne, the eldest daughter of Thomas or Giles Tropenell, who was married to John Eyre, of Wedhampton, succeeded to the Great Chalfield and Monks estates.¹ The book then continued with the Eyres² till the Monks estate was sold by Sir William Eyre—apparently in 1599—to the Danvers family, when the book passed to them with the estate. In 1695 the owner of Monks—John Danvers, though he does not sign his name—thanks Heaven for the quiet possession of the estate for nearly 100 years, and makes two important notes in the book on family matters.³ Soon after this Monks was alienated, and we find it in possession of Ezekiel Dickinson, who in 1751 became the purchaser of Bowden Park.⁴ He is said to have possessed the book in 1744.⁵ Certainly he did possess it, and within the cover, on the verso of the marbled leaf, his name may still be discerned. It has been erased with a knife, but is just distinguishable when otherwise known—'E. Dickinson, Esq., Monks, Wilts': but no date appears to have been added. From Mr. Dickinson the estate passed by inheritance to the Harman family, and the book went with it. Jeremiah Harman, merchant, of St. Lawrence Jewry, married in May 1767 Elizabeth Dickinson, probably daughter of Ezekiel. They had three children, Jeremiah, who died in April 1840, John Bernard, who died in May 1813, and Ezekiel, who died in May 1845, possessed of Theobald's, in the co. of Herts, and of Bowden Park, and of Corsham (Monks Park), in the co. of Wilts, and other estates elsewhere. After his decease his two eldest sons—he had twelve children—divided the Wiltshire property, Bowden Park falling to Ezekiel Dickinson Harman, and Monks to Bernard Dickinson Harman. But in 1852 a private Act of Parl. (17 June, 15 Vict. c. 4) was obtained for the sale of the Bowden Park estates, as agreeable to the interest of the many parties concerned.¹ The Wiltshire property thus soon passed from the family, but the old book clave to them. It was possessed by the fifth of Ezekiel Harman's family, the Rev. John Harman, some time Vicar of St. James's, Enfield Highway, who died in 1880. From him it came to his only surviving sister, Miss Caroline Harman, who died in 1896; and from her the present writer had obtained it in 1888. It is now, and has been since 1901, the property of William Heward Bell, Esquire, of Cleeve House, Melksham. And thus the 'Cartulary' has returned to its own county.

The book is a strongly bound volume with brass clasps, the binding in ledger style, apparently of the 16th century.² It contains 978 parchment pages, of which 97 are blank. It measures 14 by 11 inches, and 4½ inches thick. The headings of the various documents are in rubric, the initial letters being floriated. The book is well written throughout and in beautiful preservation.

Thomas Tropenell came of a good old Wiltshire family. He claims to trace his pedigree from 'long before the tyme that no mynde renneth,' and, as he adds above the line, 'before the Conquest.'³ The time immemorial may stand, but scarcely the remaining sentence, since, tracing back from ascertained dates, when Margaret Tropenell is acting in 1240 and Galiena in 1247,⁴ the matter appears impossible. But we can carry back the lineage another generation. The pedigree commences with Sir Osbert,⁵ but from a deed of his we can supply his father's name, Sir George le Tropenelle—most unaccountably omitted in Tropenell's pedigree—who may have lived in the time of Henry I.¹

Similarly with regard to the pedigree of the Percies, from whom Tropenell claimed the Great Chalfield property through the marriage of his ancestor Walter Tropenell with Katharine, the daughter of Sir William Percy. The first of the family mentioned in the Cartulary—Sir Harry Percy—is placed 'before tyme of mynd,' as is also his son Sir Piers de Percy,² while the son of the latter, Sir William Percy, was acting in 1260 and 1273;³ so that, starting from these dates, it is difficult to get Sir Piers back beyond legal memory. But here too we may supply an ancestor one generation higher with fair certainty. The William de Perci who excused himself from answering in court on the ground of sickness at Chalfield in 1199 must surely have belonged to the family,⁴ and, in every probability, been in possession.

Thomas Tropenell was the son of Harry Tropenell and Edith Roche, concerning whom we know but little. He may have been born about 1405. He married twice—Agnes, widow of Thomas Bourton, who was cousin and heir to John Bourton, jun., of Atworth, Lockeridge, and Bourton, co. Gloucester. She appears, in the deeds of this book, as Tropenell's wife from 1431—the year probably of their marriage⁵—to 1449; but, strangely enough, her name does not occur in the pedigree,⁶ possibly because there were no children. We know nothing of this lady but that she was of a good family and Tropenell's wife for so many years. He married (2)—probably in May 1456—his cousin Margaret,⁷ widow of John Erley and second daughter of William Ludlow, of Hill Deverell. She appears as wife of John Erley in a deed of 1439 and again in 1447, when she receives a legacy from Robert Warmwell; as widow of John Erley and wife of Thomas Tropenell in 1456, 1457, and continues to be mentioned as wife of Tropenell in deeds to 1461. There is, however, no doubt that she lived much longer, though she predeceased her husband; and, as there is no reference to her in 1479, when Tropenell appointed trustees⁸ with a view to his will, we may conclude that Margaret was no longer living. Certainly she had died before 1486, since in that year her name is not found in a deed reciting old grants to her husband and herself, confirmation being made to Thomas Tropenell alone.¹

Tropenell, like many other landowners of his time, was a great builder. His chief work, as far as we know, was the beautiful manor house of Great Chalfield, which took the place of a more ancient structure referred to² during Rous's occupation, but of which we know nothing. Doubtless a house had been there, with the accompanying diminutive parish church inside its moat, from the earliest days of the manor, the account of which is to be traced from the reign of the Confessor. But the ancient moat and bastions and the Domesday mill, or what was such till a few years ago, are probably the sole remaining relics of that earliest time. Tropenell's rebuilding must have been remarkable even in an age of beautiful buildings, and happily a great deal of it has been left for a careful restoration which is now being carried out by Mr. Robert Fuller under the advice of Mr. Harold Brakspear, F.S.A. The house is symmetrical, the general plan being a central hall with principal chambers on either side contained in wings, each exhibiting two gables, the outermost or more important gable on each side displaying, on its second stage, a handsome oriel, and that on the left-hand side, which belonged to a formerly destroyed chamber of handsome proportions, now being rebuilt, is of uncommon design. The octagonal oriel of the right wing is surmounted by the Tropenell arms and crest—a griffin, with griffins arranged as supporters. This may have been a later insertion. The numerous gables of the house were, and still partly are, adorned with figures of men-at-arms with swords or other weapons, while the smaller gables carried griffins, some bearing the Tropenell arms.

How far Tropenell, in his building schemes, interfered with the adjacent ancient church of All Saints one cannot say—it was added to, not very happily, and partly rebuilt by Robert Neale, Esq., of Shaw House, in 1775, who at that time possessed the manor—but there can hardly be doubt that Tropenell erected the once gorgeous little chapel, about 12 × 12 ft., on its south side, placing in front the screen on which he described heraldically, on five shields, the story of his family and of his possession of the manor. Beginning on the left hand we have (1) Tropenell impaling Percy; (2) the same impaling Rous; (3) Tropenell; (4) the same impaling Ludlow,

(5) impaling Roche. This screen was removed and placed in its present position beneath the chancel arch in 1775.

The approximate date of these works—the manor house and chapel—may be inferred from that of Margaret Tropenell's death. The arms of her family are abundantly displayed on these buildings, and the inference is that she was alive at the time. Looking to probability, from Tropenell's tenure of the manor we should hardly assign a date before 1460 for the commencement of the rebuilding, and for reasons just stated we suppose the manor house and chapel to have been finished some time before 1479, at which date we have inferred Margaret to be no longer living.

We do not know much of Tropenell's personal history. An enemy, whether with justice or not, calls him a 'perillous covetous man,' and from the same inquisition, in 1453, we have, again in hostile evidence, the unpleasant picture of one who might deal implacably with an adversary if he got him into his hands. We are told, however, that he was not then to be feared, for he was, at that time, fast in prison in London, and 'never like to come out, and there condemned in a teynt,' and the speaker was 'one of tho that atteynted him.'¹ How much of this may have been true we know not: perhaps we may be sceptical of information given with more than questionable intention. His political position may have been a little difficult to define. It may not always have been consistent. The 'squier which had the lyverys of Kyng Harry the vj^t and of Kyng Edward the iiijth'² may have had to serve many masters. From a curious letter addressed by him to the Earl of March we obtain a note of the times.³ It appears—for he fully states his case—that recovery of lands and tenements in Chicklade and Hindon had been granted him (1456) against a certain Richard Page, and he had been put in seisin by the sheriff of the county. Page, however, had re-entered, and continued in possession some five years, supported by the authority of the Earl of Wiltshire, 'tille now your gracious comyng home into Englonde,' when the new lord chancellor granted a writ of re-disseisin directed to the new sheriff. By virtue of this Tropenell again obtained recovery and damages, and the sheriff attempted to distrain for value. However a certain 'Walsshman called Richard Guynneth,' pretending to be a servant of the Earl of March, interposed and forbade distraint in the Earl's name 'ayenst all law and conscience,' as Tropenell adds, for the sheriff in fear of the Earl's displeasure had refrained from his office. For this Tropenell begs redress, and prays 'Almyghty God to ences your worshypfull estate to His pleasure and youre hertes desire.' In answer a 'letter' follows 'made by Edward, erle of the Marche, next after the bataille and feld of Northampton, next after his exilyng and comyng into this londe agene,' directing John Ferys, sheriff of Wilts, to reinstate Tropenell at Chicklade and Hindon, disclaiming all knowledge of the 'Walsshman,' and strictly enjoining the execution of the King's writ. The missive is dated London, 30 August [1460].

There appears little more to record of him. In 1464 a general pardon was granted to Thomas Tropenell, of Neston, gent., for all offences before 1 August that year.¹ As to his profession, he may have been originally a lawyer;² certainly the bent of his mind was in the direction of the law. In 1476 we find him as surveyor of lands to Margaret, Lady Hungerford and Botreaux, holding a court at Penhale, in Cornwall.³ Lady Hungerford died the next year: but his interests and friendship had always been bound up with the Hungerfords, and his services to the family in various ways seem to have been recognised.⁴ Towards the end of his life we find him again included in a general pardon—that of Nov. 1484 (2 R. III.)—'Thomas Tropenel, squier, hath a general pardonne.'⁵

He died on 31 Jan. 1488,⁶ having some years previously appointed certain well known persons as feoffees in trust for the fulfilment of his will. The document occurs in duplicate with a variation of witnesses.⁷ It may be of interest to give the enumeration of his properties, with which the inquisition at his death is in substantial agreement, 'my manor of Great Chalfield with advowson, with all lands, tenements, rents, reversions, services, liberties, franchises, pasture lands, with the office of Constable of Trowbridge castle, and all belonging in Chalfield, Lynsford, Holt, Trowbridge, Atworth magna, Atworth parva, i.e. Cottles Atworth; also my manor of Maiden Bradley'—which appears to have been purchased from Sir Robert Hungerford in 1452—'with all belonging in Maiden Bradley, West Codford, East Codford, and my manors of Chicklade and Hindon, with the advowson of the church of Chicklade ; with all my lands &c. in Chicklade, Hindon, Knoyle Episcopi, and Milton ; also my manor of East Harnham, with all lands &c. waters, fisheries &c. with everything belonging to East Harnham and Homington ; also my manor of Durnford parva &c., and the advowson of the church of Great Cheverell &c. lands &c. in New Sarum, Old Sarum, Fisherton Anger, Stratford, Hartham within the parish of Corsham, Neston, Corsham, Corshamland, with the chapel of S. John the Baptist '—which was adjacent to the principal messuage there, called Le Eyres '—' and the close adjacent in le Rigge (the Ridge) in Corshamland, Chippenham, Pewsham, Allington, Langdene, Castle Combe, Lockeridge and Tollard, in the co. Wilts ; and all lands &c. in Burton, Harsegge (Hassage), Wellow, Littleton, Woodcote, and Tollard, in the counties of Somerset and Dorset.'

Tropenell lies buried at Corsham Church, with Margaret, his second wife, under an altar tomb within the chapel of the Blessed Virgin Mary, at the east end of the north aisle of the church. This had been provided for in his lifetime. By his will, dated 5 Nov. 1437, and proved at Lambeth on the 16 Feb. following, administration being granted to his son Christopher, he desired to be buried at Corsham in the tomb which he had prepared for himself and his wife Margaret, who, as we know otherwise, had predeceased him. He left to the chapel a set of red velvet vestments with the S. in gold, and embroidered with his own arms ; also a Pax of silver gilt, a pair of cruets, and two candelabra of the same material ; also a missal covered with chyverell (kid), a portifory, and a silver chalice ; also two other sets of vestments embroidered with his arms, for the greater and lesser festivals ; also two suits of silk altar cloths for the altar of the B.V.M. in the chapel aforesaid. He then leaves a couple of oxen and a couple of cows in perpetuity for the sustentation of the chapel ; and provides for one priest to celebrate in the chapel as long as the bones of Margaret and of himself should rest there, and charges his estates with an annual stipend of £6 13s. 4d. for the same : the priest being directed especially to pray for the souls of Thomas Tropenell and of Margaret, his wife, for the souls of Walter and Robert, late lords Hungerford, and for Margaret, late Lady Hungerford and Botreaux, and for Sir Thomas Hungerford, knt. He also provided for masses elsewhere, but makes no mention of the parish church of Great Chalfield.

It seems most probable that he built the chapel in which he lies buried, and through various restorations the arms of Tropenell and of Ludlow (originals) have been preserved, and are inserted in the east wall.

The tomb itself is of large size, and of good panel and tracery work, bearing on each of its long sides three shields displaying (1) Tropenell, (2) the same impaling Ludlow, (3) Ludlow; at each end are the Tropenell and Ludlow shields. In a moulding on every side above the panel work the badge of the family—the ox-yoke and motto 'Tyra belement,' as at Great Chalfield—were formerly to be seen, but exist no longer, having been effectually cleaned off. But above this, along the cornice, the following prayer was repeated and is still to be made out, owing to the letters having been incised and filled in with some hard material—the ox-yoke marking the beginning and end of the sentence each time—'Jesus Christus Nazarenus Filius David Filius Marie Virginis salvet nos.'

Of Tropenell's four children ¹ Humphrey and Anne predeceased their father, who left to Mary 'one white bed' ('unum lectum album') with everything belonging to it; while to Christopher, his son and heir, he gave the residue.

Christopher's name occurs in a deed with his father's ² in 1465; and it is singular that in the inquisition after his father's death in 1488 Christopher's age is stated to have been 25 years and more, when he must have been considerably older. In 1490 he presented to Great Cheverell by concession of presentation in perpetuity made to his father in 1476 by Margaret, Lady Hungerford.³ In 1496 he was the first of four commissioners for the county of Wilts under the act of subsidy granted to the King that year.⁴ He married Anne, second daughter of Nicholas Carewe and Margaret, his wife. Having created trustees of his property, he, by his will, dated 5 March, 1501, after bequests to his wife, speaks of his children, and gives the residue 'to him that shall be mine heir of my body lawfully begotten, if he be of good rule and disposition, or else not.' He bequeaths to Sir Walter Hungerford his armour, beseeching him to be a 'special good master in right unto my wife, my children, and mine executors.' His children were evidently quite young, and his wife, who died in 1517, speaks in her will, dated in 1514, of the wardship and nonage of Thomas Tropenell, her son, and heir to Christopher Tropenell, her husband.

He died soon after 29 Sept. 1508, and lies buried with Anne Carewe, his wife, in accordance with their wills, in the Tropenell chapel of the B.V.M. at Corsham, on the north side of the altar. But being in an angle of the building the tomb, which is of the same character as that of his father and mother but smaller, has but two sides visible. On the south or long side are three shields: (1) Tropenell, (2) the same impaling Carewe, (3) Carewe; at the west is the shield of Carewe alone. The tomb may have been erected by the widow shortly before her death.

Thomas, who succeeded his father Christopher, married Eleanor, daughter of Sir Thomas Englefield. He presents to Cheverell Magna in 1529, and to Great Chalfield in 1518, 1525, 1528, and 1534. This Thomas, who seems also to have been called Giles,¹ by his will, dated 26 June, 1548, and proved 4 Nov. that year, left Eleanor, his wife, sole executrix, charging her with the education and advancement of their children; and he gave to his son Giles his crossbow.

Giles, who received his father's crossbow, and who is said to have 'died young,'² was no doubt the 'heir male' concerning whom we have a family tradition in the notes of 1695.³ It will be observed that the author of the notes gives no Christian name to the Mr. Tropenell, or to the son whose tragic death he records, or to the two daughters who succeeded; at the same time a glance at the Pedigree will supply the omission. The 'Mr. Tropenell' was Thomas, or Giles, of whom we have just spoken, grandson of the author of the Cartulary; while his son Giles must have been the victim of the accident recorded, after which the property passed to the sisters of the unfortunate youth: namely, to Anne, married to John Eyre, of Wedhampton, and Mary, married to John Young, of Harnham. There were, however, two other sisters with whom we are not concerned.

The main object of Tropenell's work in the volumes before us was to give the history of his property in reference to his own claim to possession, in fact to show his title; but the work is very much more than a collection of title deeds, as will be seen in the brief summary of contents prefixed to each volume.

The book was commenced on All Souls' Day (2 Nov.), 1464,¹ and the latest deed in the collection is dated 12 Sept. 1486,² that is to say, some sixteen months before Tropenell's death. The first two pages, as here printed, give the original calendar of the work the sequence of which is adhered to throughout. It seems desirable to give in this place some notice of the sources, outside Tropenell's muniment chests, from which the matter of the Cartulary is derived. The section 'Neston, Cosham and Coshamland' contains documents chiefly from the Corsham court rolls. These embrace pages 3 to 50 as here printed, and commence with the grant of the manor from Richard, earl of Cornwall, second son of King John, to his customary tenants: an account of this, as of other deeds, will be found below in the Summary. Whether, or how far, the originals of these deeds are anywhere in existence I have not been able to discover. They are not at Corsham, as would not have been expected, since the manor at the period in question was in the royal hands. But the original grant of Earl Richard is still at Corsham Court.³ Should the originals of these rolls not be forthcoming, it is evident that the present collection will be of the greater interest and importance.

The customs of Corsham, which are in English, and are contained in pp. 51 to 57, form an appropriate and welcome supplement to the foregoing rolls. The customs as they are here presented are the same as exist to-day, and govern the transactions of the manor except so far as they have been altered by legislation.⁴

Pages 183 to 203 (vol. i.) form a bold introduction to the deeds relating to Tropenell's property in New Sarum, and are a section of peculiar interest. The first portion, which deals with the foundation of the city of Salisbury and the removal of the episcopal seat from Old Sarum, professes to be taken from some account of the acts of Bp. Richard le Poore, of good memory, contained in the Annals of the Bishops of Salisbury. I am not aware of the source to which this refers, but no register of Bp. Richard le Poore is known to be in existence. The narrative of the removal as here given has already been printed ¹ from a MS. in the Salisbury chapter-house, which, being attributed to the 17th century, is not nearly so ancient as the Cartulary. It is, however, almost identical with it, and evidently belongs to the same source. More than one copy of the document is at Salisbury, but none very ancient.

But all the documents here placed together in the Cartulary and printed in our text (pp. 183-203) have a special relation. Bishop Richard Beauchamp (bp. of Salisbury 1450-1482) had a long controversy, as is well known, with the mayor and corporation as to the rights and privileges of the see and city respectively, and the documents in the Cartulary form the first part of those which the bishop procured to be copied in support of his case before Hen. VI. and Edw. IV. Judgment was given in favour of the bishop in the 12th year of Edw. IV. (1472-3), but the controversy was constantly recurring—in the reigns of Hen. VIII., Elizabeth, and Charles I. And there exists at Salisbury a copy of these same documents, made in Elizabeth's reign, in reference to a dispute then being carried on—documents originally supplied in support of Bishop Beauchamp's case 120 years before, and which now were used afresh. This book is of special interest to us. It is endorsed 'Civitas Nove Sarum. Processus Libertatum Civitatis Nove Sarum predictæ pertinentium episcopo ibidem contra Majorem et Communitatem dicte Civitatis.' It is a thin folio in parchment, and the first eleven leaves contain the documents in question in the same order as in the Cartulary, and at the foot of the eleventh leaf is the following note referring to the Tropenell collection, which had evidently by that time been bound in one volume :

'Memorandum, that al that which ys wryten in thys booke from the bygynnyng hither vi^{ct}, yt ys Also registryd in an auntyent booke of parchement which sumtyme was M^r Trapnell's boke and now ys M^r John Eyer's, of Chalfeld, wherein ys registryd also all M^r Trapnell's lands whereof the greatest part ys dyscendyd to the saide M^r Eyer's wyfe as one of the coparceners and coheirs of the said M^r Trapnell : which booke was sene by me, John Hooper, and hyt agreythe with thys boke.'

It is not known at present who John Hooper was : he was probably one of the lawyers concerned with the case at the time of the Elizabethan controversy. But Henry Hooper was one of the persons named in a letter of attorney of Bp. John Piers (of Salisbury) dated 22 April, 1585, authorising them to represent him before the Privy Council in his controversy with the city. The Mr. Trapnell spoken of was the grandson of the author of the Cartulary and had died in 1548; the date of John Eyre's death was 1581. The note was written therefore before that year, and the book in which it was written was, of course, somewhat earlier; while the version in the Cartulary is undoubtedly of the 15th century, and cannot be far from the date of Bishop Beauchamp's original collection if it be not the book itself which subsequently came to be bound in with the Tropenell papers or rather parchments. That it was regarded as an authority seems suggested by the fact that John Hooper took the trouble to collate the Elizabethan copy with it. He calls it an ancient book, and is evidently interested in finding that the copy 'agreythe' with it. Indeed so faithfully does it agree that it perpetuates the mistakes and slips of the Cartulary. One such slip in the Cartulary I should perhaps mention here. It is put right in the printed text, but while correcting the text I have omitted to mention the error of the MS. in a footnote. In the dating of the foundation charter of Salisbury (vol. i. p. 203, l. 20) the MS. has 'Ricardi Cicestrensis episcopi,' it should be 'Radulfi,' as printed in the text. The copy in which Mr. Hooper wrote is exact even to this fault: it appears to have been prepared for counsel's use.¹

For the remaining documents of the series I may refer simply to what I have given in the summary of contents. The articles of agreement may be found translated in Francis Price's 'Description of Salisbury Cathedral with an account of Old Sarum,' Lond. 1774, pp. 27-33; but he does not mention from what MS. he got his text.

Something should now be said as to the method in which the text has been edited. It was seen at once that it would be impossible to print every deed absolutely in extenso without adding unwarrant-ably to the bulk of the volumes. A system therefore has been adopted which was suggested by the edition of S. Frideswide's Cartulary, for the Oxford Historical Society, by Rev. S. R. Wigram ; and a list of abbreviations used in the present work is here given. These, it will be observed, are only concerned with constantly recurring forms and repetitions which will be easily supplied.

The chief abbreviations are as follows :

Omnibus &c.=omnib. Christi fidelibus ad quos presens scriptum pervenerit.

Universis &c.=univ. Christi fidelibus presens scriptum inspecturis.

Anno r. R.=anno regni Regis.

ten.=tenementum and its cases.

(per) servicia &c. (continues) inde debita et de jure consueta.

Where a long enumeration or description of possessions occurs in a deed several times the repetition is sometimes avoided by an &c. placed after the first or second word, but only in positions where the reader can have no doubt as to what should be read.

This same license is taken where a list of names occurs several times without variation.

For the same reason of brevity the final syllable or letters in numerous words in English which would admit of extension are purposely not extended in this edition (unless so found in the MS.) when nothing could be gained but a certain air of quaintness, e.g. lordship though written with a mark of contraction is not extended lordshippe, and the final e in such a word as childe is disregarded unless expressed in the MS.: and generally the editor has never gone out of his way to exhibit archaic forms of spelling. For similar reason also u and v are treated as practically one letter, and the easier reading of the text is consulted by the adoption of either. Similarly with the letters i and j: their use has been accommodated to modern eyes and ears. The word 'Sarum' has been adopted for the name of the city of Salisbury as the extension generally employed for the usual contraction, not as suggesting that it is itself an original form.

No special notice is taken of the use of capital letters in the MS., which is, as usual, most arbitrary; modern custom has been followed; also the punctuation has had to be supplied. In many cases no notice has been taken of bad spelling where the word is unmistakable, e.g. ceparatim for separatim.

The dates (also for brevity) are given in Roman figures instead of in words.

Etc. represents omissions by the original writer; &c. stands for omissions, for brevity's sake, by the editor.

The references to pages in the body of the text are made to those of the MS. which are marked in thick figures within brackets on the printed page.

I have another duty to perform on the part of many besides myself. To Mr. Bell, the owner of the Cartulary, a special acknowledgment is due for the liberality with which he has thrown his property open, and left it so long in my hands for editorial purposes. His object from the first was the publication of the work.

I have also to acknowledge, and that with a great deal of pleasure, the debt which is owing to Mr. Cyril T. Flower, M.A., late Scholar of Worcester College, Oxford, and of the Public Record Office, for his patience and industry in reading over and collating the printed proofs of the text with the MS. It has been a labour on his part absolutely gratuitous and bestowed most ungrudgingly; and I can only testify to the fact that by his care the text is presented free from slips which might otherwise have disfigured it. For the original transcribing and arrangement of the text, as also for the Summary and Index, I am myself alone responsible; but I should have been sorry indeed to let the book go without such assistance as that of Mr. Flower. He has been helpful throughout, and it is probably only those who have had experience in similar work who can rightly appreciate the amount of time and attention needed in the collation of so lengthy a text. To Mr. Flower also is entirely due the Appendix of Documents which gives a useful and appropriate finish to the whole.

Nor can I omit my thanks to another friend who has from first to last helped me much with various bits of information during the prosecution of this work.

Also, I am sure, acknowledgments are due to the Hon. Secretary of the Society, the Rev. Ed. H. Goddard, M.A., F.S.A., who has, beyond his other work, been involved in much correspondence of one kind or other in order to get the Cartulary published.

And I should be quite untrue to my own feelings did I not refer to those who have so kindly helped forward and waited for the finishing of this book, and express my regret at having had to try their patience by delay. But I will not seek excuses. I have done what I could, and present the result to them in the hope that they may not altogether be disappointed. At least they have, I believe, a faithful text of this interesting and important Cartulary.

COSHAM, EYRIS

The origin of the Neston estate, as far as we can trace it, seems to have been in a principal messuage and virgate of land within the manor of Corsham, tithing of Woodland, which was called 'le Eyris,' from the name of its early possessors. It was held by John, grandson of John Eyre, in 1373. In 1375 he parted with it to William atte Lepeyate, whose pedigree (q.v.) went back five generations and who was holding 'le Lepeyatis' in 1369, which also consisted of a messuage and virgate of land. W. atte Lepeyate was thus in possession of both 'le Eyris' and 'le Lepeyatis.' In 1414 his elder son, William (called) Heveston, surrendered 'le Lepeyatis' to W. Coggeswell, who in 1466 released a portion of it to Thomas Tropenell. John Lepeyate, the second son of the above William, surrendered 'Eyris place' in Neston to J. Duke in 1428, and Duke surrendered to Tropenell in 1438. Tropenell, thus in possession, rebuilt the house, which was finished some time before 1453. It was adjacent to 4 closes called 'Nestonis Lyes,' which were 'before the mansion of the said Thomas' (pp. 42, 43), and which an inquisition of 1615 (deed in possession of Mr. Fuller) identified as being the same with the two closes then, and now, called Sheringes Lyes and Keynes Lyes.

Tropenell continued to make 'le Eyris' his chief dwelling-place, and he is generally described as of Neston. The estate grew under his hands, and remained the property of the Tropenells till 1548, when it passed into the Eyre family by the marriage of Anne Tropenell with John Eyre of Wedhampton (see Pedigree). With the Eyres it continued till the death of William Eyre of Neston in 1697, when his sister and heiress, Jane Eyre, who had married Sir John Hanham, of Great Chalfield, in 1693 took it into the Hanham family. It was sold by Sir John's great-grandson, Sir William Thomas Hanham, in 1790 to Mr. Henry Merewether, of Calne, from whom the estate was purchased in 1802 by John Fuller, Esq., the grandfather of the present possessor, Geo. Pargiter Fuller, Esq., of Neston Park.

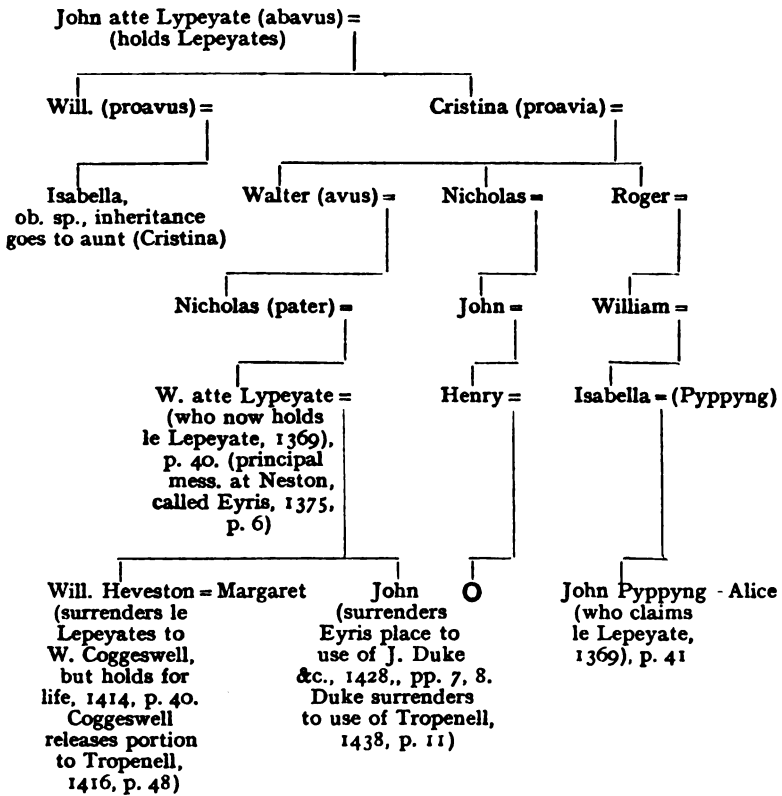

The existing house is almost certainly on the site of Tropenell's rebuilt mansion, the last, or almost the last, vestiges of which appear to have been removed when Mr. John Fuller commenced his rebuilding of a century or more ago.

NEW SARUM

Foundation of city and cathedral. Cathedral establishment formerly within castle of Old Sarum—got rid of by ruse in time of King John pursuant to instruction issued to all castellans to free such spaces to the royal use, notwithstanding eccl. privilege, but to act cautiously. So the canons, having been out in procession one Rogation tide, found the gates of the castle shut against them on their return. In this dilemma they resort, as children to their father, to bp. Herbert (not Richard, as in MS.), who comforts them, quoting Scripture in favour of flight, and vows to God and the B.V.M. to found a church on another spot to the B.V.M. which should be free from such vexation. He appeals to the King for license accordingly, and for help, and is answered favourably 184

He makes great sacrifices himself for this end: goes to Rome; obtains papal letters to King John begging him to prosper the work; but returning—finds the King dead (Oct. 1216). In his grief and fear that his labour may have been in vain, he is comforted by an apparition, in his sleep, of the glorious Virgin, who encouraged his purpose and promised her assistance. After a little time the new King is crowned, and the bp. hastens to Westminster to proffer a first petition. He shews the King and council the papal bulls directed to King John, and obtains the royal assent, together with a charter and many royal gifts and promises of further help. [The narrative is somewhat confused. Hen. III. was crowned at Gloucester, 28 Oct. 1216, the rite being repeated at Westminster, 17 May, 1220. But bp. Herbert le Poore died early in May 1217, so that the story here must refer to his successor, bp. Ric. le Poore.] Returning to his flock, the bp. shews the deed he had obtained, and is greeted as one 'coming in the name of the Lord.' He then applied himself to the work. But first he must find a site, and it occurs to him that the abbess of Wilton has one admirably suited in every way. This makes the bp. a frequent visitor to Wilton 185

Hence old wives chatter: 'What,' says one ancient spinster, 'can bring the bp. here so often? Is he going to marry the

abbess? can he have got a dispensation at Rome? 'Nothing of the sort,' replied her companion; 'you slander the holy man; he is about to transfer the church and cloister from the Castle of Sarum to some spot near Wilton.' 'But,' persisted the other, 'has not the bp. land enough of his own that he must spoil the abbess? Was ever man dear to God who was greedy for himself?' On this coming to the bp.'s ears he tries to think of a site on his own domain. But he is in difficulty, and commends himself to God, whose disposals are sure, and to the B.V.M., and now in the visions of the following night the Blessed Virgin Mary appeared to him again: he was to found the church in a place called 'Mirifeld'; and with this he awoke, giving thanks to God. But he had never heard the name before, and was still in doubt as to the place intended; however, a few days after, it was discovered in the name of a certain meadow mentioned by one of his friends, not without the Divine agency. And there he [bp. Ric. le Poore] founded the Church of the blessed Mary of Sarum on S. Vitalis's day, 28 April, 1220 (4 H. III.)	185
Old condition of site before the translation, a marsh on which beasts fed, viz. in 1218. In the next year bp. Ric., seeing how the people offered largely in honour of B.V.M. in a wooden chapel erected on the spot, approaches the King with petition that a city should be created there, endowed with various liberties, franchises, &c. This was granted by letters under the great seal, 11 H. III. (1227)	185
Notice of ancient state of the see in ref. to the condition of the citizens of New Sarum. The new city being a creation of Hen. III. and so within the time of legal memory, which goes back to Ric. I., some think that the citizens cannot prescribe for their possessions, as prescription must go behind the date of such memory; others, on the contrary, hold that the place, now called New Sarum, was a borough before that time, concerning all which the diligent reader is invited to consider what follows, viz. that the bprick. of Sarum comprises what were formerly two bpricks.—that of Sunning [Ramsbury] and that of Sherborne—until Herman, the last bp. of Sunning [Ramsbury] acquired also the presulate of Sherborne from King Edw. the Confessor, and made his cathedral there, the sees being united. But in the reign of Will. the Conq. Herman again removed the seat, under synodal authority and by the King's munificence, from Sherborn to Old Salisbury [1075]. Succession after Herman: Osmund [1078], Roger [1107], Jocelin [1142], Hubert Fitz-Walter [1189], Herbert le Poore [1194], Richard le Poore [1217].	186
Charter of Hen. IV., confirmation of liberties &c. to New Sarum after the fashion of Winchester, 9 H. IV. 1408	186, 187
Charter of confirmation from bp. Ric. le Poore, on holdings of citizens: each to hold from him his free tenement, and to give, sell, &c. to whom he will, except in mortmain, in presence of his bailiff: for a place of 7 perches in length by 3 in breadth, they pay 12d. per ann., and for holdings more or less, in proportion, 25 March, 1225	187, 188

community, of the privileges before enjoyed in his own time, and that of his predecessors, 1367	188
Succession after Herman (see above). Hubert made bp. of Canterbury 1193. Herbert consecrated 1194, died 1217. His brother Richard, a man of eminent learning and piety, formerly dean of Sarum, bp. of Chichester, translated to Sarum 1217. In 1218 obtains license from pope Honorius to transfer site of church from Castle to New Sarum [the text is in confusion between bps. Herbert and Ric., and on the date of the death of King John, which occurred 19 Oct. 1216] the bp. shows to Hen. III. the papal letters intended for King John, and obtains the royal consent. In 1219 a wooden chapel, in honour of the B.V.M., was commenced at New Sarum on Monday, 15 April, and on Trinity Sunday, 2 June, bp. Ric. celebrated in it for the first time. And in the year 1220, on 28 April, the first stone of the new cathedral was laid by King Hen. III., according to the statement of his letters [see Foundation Charter below, p. 201, and statement of Reg. de Toudeworth, p. 189; yet it is more than doubtful whether the King was present]	188, 189
Reginald de Toudeworth, mayor of New Sarum, and community of the same, on late and present times. Our reverend mother the Church of Sarum has nourished and brought up children, and carried them from the cramped camp of the Augustus (ab angusto Augustiburgo) to the pleasant space now called New Sarum, and gathered them under her wings as a hen her chickens; and further obtained from Hen. III. of famous memory, who himself also laid the foundation-stone of the new church, the condition and liberties of a free city, so much so that his citizens were accounted all round as an elect people, and happy was he who could call himself a citizen under the protection of the church. But, alas! for the depravity of our times, not a few now, swollen with importance, have kicked against this favoured condition, have refused to pay their dues to the bp., and appointed Phil. Aulyn, and others, as their attorneys to show before the King and council why our venerable father bp. Simon should not receive the tallage and reasonable aid for which he was contending. Letter of attorney from citizens and community empowering Phil. Aulyn and the others to act, dated 24 March, 1305	189, 190
But these attorneys, together with Ric. de Ludgershall, then mayor, rashly exceeded the powers given them. For when plainly asked by the King whether they preferred to enjoy their present liberties and submit to the burdens incumbent on their position, or whether they would renounce for ever their liberties and be free of the burdens, they, in their consummate presumption, without one word of consultation with the community on so great and delicate a matter, decided for themselves and the community to renounce the liberties. And so we, no less than they, bereft of our prerogatives, were no more citizens, but became some time a derision to all the people, and their song all the day. But the rest of us—the loyal portion—plainly discerning our unhappy plight, and with ruin staring us in the face, betook ourselves, purely, simply, and without reserve, to our good lord, bp. Simon, making submission, and praying him to act as his conscience thought right, and to make such ordinances in the matter as he should deem expedient, and by which we, on our part, undertook to be guided. The bp. pitying our misery received us to his favour, as did the father his prodigal son, and assigned to his friend, master Walt. Hervy, a canon of the cathedral, the task of directing us, and further obtained from the King on our behalf a restoration to the state which had been lost. Thus a mode of living was found between the bp. and ourselves within the city ; and the following are the articles agreed upon	190, 191

1. Citizens to be subject to the bp., to pay to him all rents and services due, and for their tens. and places as in bp. Richard's time : the bp. to measure, dispose of, and control the places as may seem for the good of the church	191
2. The community may choose a mayor annually and present him to the bp.'s steward, or in his absence to the bailiff, as has been accustomed : who, when he has been sworn, knowing that he is the superior neither to steward nor bailiff, but rather the inferior, must so carry out his office, whether in the presence of both or one of them, or in that of the clerk of the manor, as he shall know to be fitting	191
3. The community to choose likewise other officers, but on their own responsibility, and subject if offending to removal by the bp., in which case the community would be compelled to answer for them, and to make fresh elections. Among the officers provision is made for 3 servitors—2 for the city and 1 for the bp.—to look specially after his interest ; but for any offences of this latter officer the city would not be held answerable	191
4. Citizens not bound to attend the bp.'s court, except at the view of frankpledge twice in the year, unless, indeed, a King's writ should lie to be pleaded before the court, or a plea of prison, or of the King's peace ; or unless the mayor &c., who are bound to attend every fortnight, are unable or unwilling to proceed in such pleas, in which case, not only the mayor, &c., but the whole community are bound under penalty to attend and render justice	192
5. Pleas to be held in the said court as of old	192
6. Wills dealing with tenements to be exhibited in court to guard against their falling into mortmain, or being otherwise improperly burdened	192
7. That no return of writ be required of the mayor or others by the bailiff, but only a precept	192
8. Bp. to be answerable for his receiver of King's dues	192
9. Citizens may have their attorney at fairs, markets, &c., for guarding their liberties, but not carrying on suits in court without leave of the bp. &c.	192
10. Expedition with regard to pleas of trespass, contracts, and personal actions as in piepoudre courts	192
11. Assise of bread, wine, and ale, according to law and custom	192
12. Pledges and distrains to be delivered to the mayor to be scheduled with their value in court, after which, failing satisfaction given, to be sold at the next court, and if buyers be wanting, to be offered to the bp.'s receivers, or to the appraisers themselves, who shall answer to the lord for the price	192

13. What to be done in case of distraint being under lock and key	193
14. On taxing the community—assessors and their securities	193
15. Common seal of the city to be kept under 3 keys in common chest with Domesday &c.	194
16. None to occupy places or stalls in market before paying their due to the lord (bp.) and having place on stall assigned	194
17. Bp. Simon remits toll &c. during pleasure to citizens who submit themselves before master Walt. Hervy, and whose names shall be scheduled	194
18. Seisin of tenements not to be given but in full court	195
19. Regulation for sale of flesh, fish, &c. None to be sold before prime (6 A.M.) for the purpose of being retailed, but only to the bp., canons, and inhabitants for their personal use. Goods bought contrary to this regulation to be forfeited to bp.'s court, and the buyers heavily amerced, and after three offences rendered incapable of purchasing in the city. Inquiry into these matters to be made twice a year at the view of frankpledge. Against regraters, forestallers, &c., purveyors regulated. Care against buying up more than enough for use with a view to retailing. Canons' servants, if offending, to be punished by their masters	195, 196
20. Fish brought in late to be carried in the early morning whole to stall for sale	196
21. So with fish brought in between the early morning and 6 o'clock	196
22. To be sold by person who brought it, and that after sunrise, otherwise the fish becomes forfeited	196
23. Before 6 A.M. customers to be served in food and necessaries for the house according to their rank	196
24. Assise of bread to be set each week by mayor and bailiff, or by one of them, and nothing to be asked, given, or received in the matter	197

GREAT CHALFIELD

The manor of Great Chalfield (pp. 262-409) has a lengthened and varied history. In the time of Edward the Confessor, Walf, possibly to be identified with the unfortunate earl Waltheof, was holding it, but at the time of the Domesday survey it had passed to Ernulf de Hesding, one of the large Domesday proprietors, who died about 1095. We next find the manor in the hands of the Percies—a younger branch apparently of the family of William de Percy, who came into England in the time of the Conqueror; and the William de Percy who stands at the head of our pedigree may have been a grandson of Alan de Percy, son of the above, who died (1120) in the reign of Henry I. This William de Percy is not mentioned in the Cartulary, but for reasons as stated in the Introduction we venture to place him in possession at Great Chalfield.

The history in the Cartulary begins with the ownership of Sir Harry de Percy, Knt., who may have lived in the time of King John, and the manor continued to be possessed by the Percies till after the death of Sir Harry Percy III. about or shortly before 1356. Lady Constance, his widow, remained in possession during her life throughout her threefold experience of matrimony after Sir Harry's death. To strengthen her title she had received releases in 1356 from bp. Wyville, who appears to have obtained some right in the property, and also from John Percy, son of Sir Roger and brother of her late husband.¹ In her fourth widowhood she left the estate, in 1416, to her grandson William Rous, who remained in possession till his death in 1452. He was the son of Isande, elder daughter of Sir Philip FitzWaryn, Knt., Constance's third husband. Constance herself died in or about 1419, and the estates fell under an endless and vexatious litigation.

Her title had all along been faulty. Sir H. Percy III., Constance's first husband, had left a daughter, Beatrice, by his first wife Eleanor (Alianora) Skydmore, and to her the property really belonged, as was eventually determined. It is true that she also had executed a deed of release to Constance in 1361,² but was it of her own free will, or was she under age and in duress? This was the question laboured by her son and grandson—each a Thomas Beverley—and which was eventually decided in Beverley's favour in 1467.³ Issues had been also raised in the matter after the death of Rous by the Beaushyns, descended from Johanna FitzWaryn, Sir Philip's second daughter, who had married Thomas Beaushyn; and also by Thomas Tropenell himself, who had actually been in possession, and claimed as descended from the Percies through the marriage of Katharine Percy, as before stated, with Walter Tropenell. But Tropenell's peaceable enjoyment of the property came finally from an arrangement with Thomas Beverley after the recovery of the manor by the latter from the Beaushyns in 1467 and 1468.⁴

The Tropenells remained in possession till the death of Thomas, or Giles, Tropenell in 1548, when the manor, which came to his eldest daughter Anne, passed to the Eyre family through her marriage with John Eyre of Wedhampton; and it was eventually sold by his grandson, Sir John Eyre, who died in 1639. It was next held by the loyal Sir Richard Gurney, in whose time the manor house became garrisoned by the Parliamentary troops while its owner languished in the Tower, and died there a ruined man. The property was then owned in succession by Sir William and Sir John Hanham, after which it was purchased by John Hall, of Bradford, from whom it passed by will to Rachel Baynton, of Little Chalfield, who married Lord Kingston, son of the 5th Earl who became eventually duke of Kingston, but who predeceased his father. Lord Kingston was succeeded in the manor by his son the second, and last, duke of Kingston. In 1770 the estate was sold by the duke to Mr. Robert Neale, of Shaw house, by marriage with whose daughter it came to Sir Harry Burrard, who took the surname of Neale. From him, after the death of his widow, it passed to his brother, the Rev. Sir Geo. Burrard, and shortly before the death of Lady Burrard, in 1879, it became the property (1878) of G. P. Fuller, Esq., of Neston Park, who thus brought together again the Tropenell holdings of Neston and Great Chalfield.¹

Beatrice de Percy, da. of Sir Hen. de Percy and Alianore, his first wife, tries to recover the manor of Great Chalfield &c., according to the form of donation in the feoffment made to her father and mother (see above, No. 7, p. 302, 28 June, 1338), against John Percehay and Constance, his wife, mother-in-law of Beatrice, being lately wid. of Sir Hen. de Percy. Case turns on precise form of gift. Jury decide that the feoffment had been made to Sir Henry and Alianore, his wife, and to the heirs of Sir Henry in fee simple, and not to Sir Henry and Alianore and the heirs of their body in fee tail, as Beatrice had contended. She therefore is in mercy, and defendants go without a day, Easter 1359	399-401
Beatrice attempts to recover the manor of Folke, and fails as above (same date)	401
Tropenell answers for his title against the Beverleys (English)	401
And also against the Beaushyns (English)	402-404
And further against the false and pretended title of John Bourn (English), of Little Chalfield, who claimed in right of descent from George Percy (or Pershay), whose kinship with the Percies of Great Chalfield is stoutly denied by Tropenell. This Geo. Percy (or Pershay) became possessed of Little Chalfield in right of his marriage with Margaret, lady of the manor [prob. da. and heir of Walter de Chalfield, who presented to the church of Little Chalfield in 1308. This Margaret in her widowhood in 1348 gave a mess. and 33 acres of land in Little Chalfield to the support of a chaplain who should celebrate daily at the altar of S. Mary in the chapel of S. John the Baptist of Little Chalfield for the souls of her husband, herself, their ancestors and heirs and all faithful departed (Inquis. A.Q.D., 22 Ed. III. 2^d nos., No. 31). Walter de Chalfield was prob. the son of Will. de Chaudefeld mentioned in the Testa de Nevill, 139, a, &c. There is no church now at Little Chalfield. The last presentation to it was in 1537, after which date all trace of it seems lost.] Against the title of Nic. Hall to certain lands (English)	405, 406
How John Bourn wrongfully occupied the constableness of Trowbridge Castle (English)	406, 407
78. Release of Will. Ludlowe, Will. Sandys, and other co-feoffees of Tropenell to the same concerning all his manors, lands and tens., 10 March, 1462	407, 408
82. Release from John Rous, lately of Baynton, younger brother of Will Rous, lord of Great Chalfield, to Thomas Tropenell &c. of all right and claim to the manor of Great Chalfield, 12 July, 1454	408
83. Release from Will. Beaushyn, son of Thomas and Johanna, made to Tropenell, of the manor of Great Chalfield, after Beverley's recovery of that manor, 27 Feb. 1468	409

1. First it is to undirstonde that Cosham is lordship is anxion demayn, and all the tenauntes of the lordshipp before they were fermers in fee, and alwey sithe, have hold her londes and tenementis in fee to theym and to their heires: and had her lond tryed in the court of Cosham before the steward there by writ [of ryght¹], and nat at large by the comyn law. And alwey before ther graunte, they had one of hem self to be bayly and coroner with in the lordshipp to make her retournes of all maters that was to be determynd with in the lordshipp as they had sithe the graunte; and at that tyme nat chargable to aunswere neither acounte to the erles of Cornwaile, at that tyme lordes of Cosham, neither to none of her assigneys. For alwey before that Richard, erle of Cornwaile, graunted the seid lordshipp to the tenauntis thereof, and to their heires in fee ferme, he and all Erles of Cornwaile alwey had a rent gaderer of her owne, at her owne costes and expenses, to gadre the rent and all the dewtees therof, and to acounte therfor; And also they had a bayly of their owne for the gaynage of the husbondry of the demayn londes and medes in the felde, and to acounte therfor in like wyse.

2. Item, sithe the lordshipp of Cosham was graunted by the seid Richard, erle of Cornwaile, in ferme to the tenauntes therof and to their heires for ever, alwey sithe, acordyng to their charter and graunte to theym made, the seid tenauntes and fee fermers have had a mean persone chosen by theym self as one of theym to be officer of the lordshipp to the seid Richard, erle of Cornwaile, and to his heires and his assigneis, called a bayly; whiche alwey hathe used, sithe the graunte, to aunswere of the rent and perquy-sites of the courtes therof, and acounte as the seid erles officers was woned to done [at Cosham but nower els],¹ takyng for his labour of the seid Erle, his heires and his assigneis, xxvj^s viij^d, j hors wyntered in stabyll withynne the maner and all the somer in the whome park to gras.

3. Item, the seid tenauntes and fee fermers have alwey used, sithe the seid graunte, for there bayly is ease to chese ij of theym self whiche shall yerely gadir alle the rent therof and delyver hit to her bayly.

4. Item, before the tyme that no mynde rynneth, and alwey sithe, the baily was and is as bothe bayly and coroner of the lordshipp; and shall make all arayes and all retournes as wele of all ples of lond as of all other maters withyn the lordship, as the sheref and coroners of the shire dothe in the shire at large, of every thyng, and none but he.

5. Item, the baily before the tyme that no mynde rennyth, and before the seid Richard earl of Cornwailes graunte, and alwey sithe, by his office hathe and dothe at altymes take all surrendirs and all releses of all tenautes and fee fermers of the lordship, as wele withyn the lordshipp as without, where as hit liketh hym, of all londes and [p. 46] tenementis of the lordshipp and of every parcell therof, before the court hold and after; takyng to hym ij, iij, or iiij of the tenautes and fee fermers of the lordshipp to recorde all such surrendirs and releses so made before the bayly, tenautes and fee fermers, and present theym, so as the seid erle, his heires and his assigneys, be aunswered of the fynes and herieth of olde tyme therof used and acostumed, or withyn. And every surrendir and relesse so made before the baily, tenautes and fee fermers, is as good and effectual in the lawe, after the custome there, as is a surrendir and a relesse made before the steward and the homage in the playn court; and alwey was the custome there before there graunte of the seid Erle of Cornwaile, and yit is.

6. Item, the baily shall examyne every woman, wedded or single, beyng enheriter withyn the lordship: and every enheriter and possessioner in fee, in the takyng of every surrendir, as shall one of the Kynges juges at the comyn law: and that recorded by hym, and by the seid tenautes and fee fermers, and entred in the court there, they ne none of theym that maketh any suche surrendir, ne none of her heires, shall never take avauntage to sey they were covert debaron neither deyns age.

7. Item, of all distresses taken withyn the lordshipp, the bayly shall make repleven therof at all tymes withyn the lordshipp, as the sheref of the shire shall withyn the shire at large, so the partie entir his pleynt and fynde suerte to sew as the law wille fro courte to courte.

8. Item, before the tyme that no mynde rynneth, and alwey sithe, every tenaunt and fee fermer withyn the lordshipp, as wele before there graunte as sithe, by the custome there, did and may yeve, selle, and eschaunge his lond and every parcell therof, by hym self, he hath withyn this lordshipp in fee for ever, with warante or without, to whom he wille; and make the astates by surrendir before the steward and the homage in the court, or before the bayly, tenautes, and fee fermers, and relesse his title to hym that is sesed therof ; so the seid erle, his heires and his assigneys, be aunswered alwey of his fynes and dewtees of olde tyme therof used and acustomed, or withyn.

9. Item, there shall no man paye to heriette for no title relesed, but he shall make his fyne as hit hathe be used, or withyn, after the quantite of the grounde.

10. Item, all inquysicions, called by the name of Courtes lokyng, for title of lond withyn the lordshipp, for any suche lond as any tenaunte and fee fermer is sesed of, after the custome there, shall be take and sewed in maner and forme as foloweth : He that wille sewe for any suche title of lond shall come into courte there and make his fyne for xij^d or ij^s, and pray a Courte lokyng for hym, and put into courte his title in writyng as he wille abide by to be found for hym. And upon that the steward shall charge the baily to retourne a panell of xxiiij men is names, of the same to appere as xij therof may be swore to enquire and sey the trouthe of the mater before the steward in the courte : and yf [p. 47] they fynde the playntif is title good, yit shall nat the okepier of the ground, yf he be as tenaunte and fee fermer of the ground so occupieng it as it is above rehersed, be put ther fro by the Courtes lokyng, but alwey the playntif that the title is found for shall take his accion by writte after the custome and [in this cas¹] nat be restored to the ground ; and the title found alwey rest in courte for an evidence yf hit be entred in the courte of record.

11. Item, this is the custome yf a surrendir have be made into the seid erles hondes, his heires or his assigneis, before his graunte therof made to the tenautes or after, of any londes or tenementes withyn the lordshipp, before the baily and sewters, to the use and behof of any man or woman, and the steward refuse the surrendir whan it is presented into the courte there, and wille not take and entir hit, and amyttte hym or her for tenaunt and fee fermer, as it is presented and recorded ; so he or she prefer to make fyne therfore of olde tyme used and acustomed, or withyn, yit at all tymes he or she the surrendir is so made to his use, may entir into the lond : And yf he or she be dissesed therof, he or she is put to his writte [of ryght²] as other be that clayme title to lond there after the custome : or els entir ayene theron so he be myghty inow to ocupie it for the wronge doer ; and yf he or she be not stronge inow therto, yit he or she at all dayes after, or his or her heires, may have a Courtes lokyng in the maner and forme as hit is before rehersed, and put his title in writyng into Courte ; and yf it be found for hym in the courte before the steward, notwithstanding ony decessent of hym or theym that have so occupied it in the mean tyme, yit the steward by the custome shall amyttte hym or her for tenaunt and fee fermer that the title is found for, and make his or her fyne of olde tyme therof used and acustomed, or withyn. And also the partie may chese whether he wille entir and ocupie it forthwith, all after the title is found for hym or her, or els take his accion by writte at his eleccion and recover his damages for the wronge ocupiying. And this is the cause there is no defaute on hym or her to whom the surrendir was made to his or her use, so he or she have preferred to make her fyne as hit is above rehersed and do a sewte, for he or they that so occupied it is or bethe but wronge doer or doers.

12. Item, yf any persone [as heyre ¹] pretende ony title to ony suche londes sesed in the tethyng is hondes [for lak of heyre ¹] or beyng in the seid erles hondes, or his assigneis, by wronge doying contrary to the custome there [for lak of heyre ¹], yit he may come into the courte and there make his fyne for xij^d or ij^s at the most, for to have an inquysicion to enquiry, and put in his title in writyng into court. And yf it be found for hym, he shall come into courte and profir suche fyne as of old tyme hathe be paid for the same, or els benethe, and be amytted for tenaunt and fee fermer.

13. Item, yf any persone be in doute of his title of lond, his evidence beyng lost, or the recordes lost, all such persons or persone so greved may make their fyne and put their title in writyng [p. 48] into courte in maner and forme abovesaid, as the trowthe of the mater requyeth: And as the title is found so shall hit be enrolled of recorde in the courte, and rest there for their evidence.

14. Item, all tenauntes and fee fermers of the lordshipp ones admytted in courte, all relesses of titles of any creature clamying any title in [Cosham ²] lond made to the use of hym that is occupier is good and effectual without fyne.

15. Item, every woman that hathe be wyf to any suche tenaunt or fee fermer, yf she wille come to the courte there and clayme wedow astate, she shall have all the hole lond her husband died sesed of in fee, terme of her lyf, without wast doying: and he that shall naturally be heire therto shall have no part duryng the wedow is lyf. And after the wedow is deceste he shall make his fyne with the steward used and acustomed, or lesse yf he may, and be amytted as tenaunt and fermer: and yf the steward wille not amyttte hym, he shall entre, ocupie, and enjoye the lond, tille he wille amyttte hym for tenaunt and fee fermer, without any offence ayenst the seid erle, his heires or his assigneis, after the custome.

16. Item, every tenaunt or fee fermer, by the custome, shall entaile his lond and every parcell therof by cotype of courte rolle withyn the lordshipp, as is do of lond at large withyn this shire at the comon law.

17. Item, all the lond withyn the lordshipp shall remayn, ascende and discende to every heire by the custome of the lordshipp, as lond shall at large in the shire by the comyn law.

18. Item, whan any surrendir is made by any tenaunt and fee fermer of lond into the seid erle is hondes, his heires or his assigneys, to the use of any persone or persones in fee after the custome there, the partie that made the surrendir and his heires, and all that maketh all suche surrendirs before the baily, tenauntes and fee fermers, by the baily and theym recorded: he ne none other for theym in her name, ne in her heires name, shal never have this lond ayene, ne none other for theym by no latter surrendir therof, ne by her first astate, but hit be entailed, and yit hit must be by recovere as londes entailed. The tethyng shall sese hit rather [into the tethynges hondes¹] and take the profites therof perpetually, rather than the partie that made the surrendir, or his heires. And this is the cause: every surrendir of lond, after the custome, is as clene a partyng fro hit, as is an open livery of lond made in fee by the enheriter at large in the shire at the comyn lawe.

19. Item, that every tenaunt and fee fermer may, by the custome, graunte his lond to ferme by endenture, terme of xxxj yere [without court etc.²].

20. Item, alwey take this for a custome, how many daughters or sustirs any man have that is enheriter or purchasser withyn the lordshipp of Cosham, alwey the eldest daughter or sustir and her issue shall enherite the hole lond there, as shall the eldest sone or brother there, or at the comon lawe, and nat be departed.

21. [P. 49.] Item, yf any tenaunt or fee fermer be endited of felonye or of treson, and is withdraw hym out of countre, or outlawed of the same, or is attaynted of felonye or of treson, the seid erle, his heires, neither his assigneys, by the custome, shall not sese his londes, ne take no profites therof, neither make no grauntes therof; and yf they do, all is but voide by the custome: for the tethyng shall sese the lond and take the issues and profites for the tyme: and after the dethe of hym so outlawed or attaynted of treson or of felonye, the next heire, and he wille clayme hit, shall come into courte and be amytted for tenaunt and fee fermer.

22. Item, yf any tenaunt or fee fermer dye sesed of any londes there without heire knowen, and none come to clayme hit, the advoidaunce of the same so presented; the same londes shall alwey remayn in the tethyng hondes, and nat in the seid erles hondes, his heires neither his assigneys; and the tethyng man of the same tethyng shall yerly take that lond to ferme, and reseive the profites therof to the tethyng is use, unto the tyme that any persone come and clayme the same londes, and by the court be amytted.

23. Item, yf any tenaunt and fee fermer make of his londes surrendir into the seid erles hondes, his heires or his assigneys, to the behoveth of another persone and his heires in fee, takyng to hym astate ayene terme of lyf, he shall make, ne paye, no fyne for his astate terme of his lyf ayene, because he departeth fro a better astate than he taketh; but he that the surrendir is made to in fee shall make fyne, and do all thyng that longeth to the same lond of olde tyme acustomed.

24. Item, yf any woman, enheritrix withyn the lordshipp, be married and dye sesed, her husbond shall have the lond that she so dieth sesed of, terme of his lyf; and by her deceste the seid erle, his heires ne his assigneys, shall have no heriette tille after the deceste of her husbond: but where she dieth sowle sesed she shall paye an heriette accordyng to the custome.

25. Item, all tenauntes and fee fermers, and all straungers, that wolle sewe to have any londes or tenementes withyn the lordshipp by title of right, by the custome there; they or he that wille sewe shall brynge a writte [of ryght¹] and mak his prodestacion therof, wrete in parchement, in what maner of fourme he wille sewe at his perell, and delyver hem bothe to gedres to the steward in courte before the sewtes; and upon that the steward shall make a warrant to the baily to warne the tenaunt of the ground, or to attache the lond after the nature of the writte and prodestacion therof, as the mater requyreth.

26. [P. 50.] Item, all surrendirs made to the behoveth of any persone or persones, of yerde londis, half yerde londes, corsetelis of lond, and half corsetelis of lond, and all tenementes that have mansion places of old tyme, must be herietted, and fyned for, in the courte after the quantite of the tenement and grounde, and entred of recorde; and els the surrendir is voide [yf the steward wull take hit or els nat¹]. And all other surrendirs made by any tenaunt and fee fermer of any parcelle of his londes or tenementis to the use of any persone or persones in fee, all suche londes shall be fyned for in courte, and not herietted, for there shall none heriette be paid, but there a surrendir is made of a tenure, that is to sey, of a grounde there the mansion [ys or¹] was of olde tyme.

27. Item, all surrendirs made to the behoveth of many persons in fee of any londes and tenementis there, to an entent of trust, and the entent be therowtly expressed and entred, beth good and effectual after the custome : and all surrendirs made of any londes and tenementes to many persons in fee, none entent expressed and entred in the courte, bethe voide, for all tho that taketh no profite of the ground as to make any surrendir therof ayene in fee, enlesse and hit be made to a man, his wyf, and his childe, to the entent to enjoye the lond one after other : And all the seid erles, her heires and her assigneys, of all suche joynte surrendirs, so made and take, shal have none heriette by none of all there dethes till the last be passed.

[P. 65.] *Thys ys the clere declaracion and aunswer of the trowth ayenst the fals pretended titell of a yerly rent claymyd by the heyrys of John Osborne owt of Haynys Conyngger fortified by John Mompesson ; wheche was never peyd.*¹

Thomas Upton was sesyd of certayn londys and tenementis yn Deneton Teffont, Warmester, Uptons feld in the paryche of Laverstoke, Old Sarum and Stratford yn the counte of Wyltes yn his demene as yn fee. And by hys dede, cujus data est die Saboti prox. post fest. Assencionis Domini, anno viij^o Regis Henrici vth [17 May, 1420 ; see No. ij above, p. 56], he eneffed ther on yn fee Wyllyam Foyent, clerk, and John Osbarne of Boryton, by vertu of the weche they were there of sesid in here demene as in fee : and by there dede cujus data est x^o die Octob. anno v^{to} Regis Henrici vjth [1426 ; see above, No. iij, p. 56], they made astate in fee to the seide Thomas ayen and to Alison hys wyfe of all the seid landis and tenementis in Old Sarum and Stratford, and in all the landis callid Uptons feld in the parysshe of Laverstoke, now callid Haynys Conyngger, and now newe dyked and set [p. 66] wyth quyk fryth, and so were they both ther of sesyd in here demene as yn fee. The seid Thomas deyde : the seide Alison overlyved, and had hyt by survyver ; and pesybely okeyped hit wyth owt interrpycion, and so cotenewed here possession ther on wyth owt eny clayme, or eny annuete payed or clamyd owt ther of yn all here dayes and time ; savyng only xv^s payed yerly to the lordys of Laverstoke. And in the fest of Seynt Mathy the apostell, a^o xxxvij^o R. H. vjth [21 Sept. 1459 ; see above, p. 57], the seid Alyson yn here wedowhode by here dede, beryng date the same saide day and yere of Seynt Mathy, made astate in fee of all here seyde landys to Richard Hayne and to hys heyrys. And so was he ther of sesyd in hys demene as in fee, with owt interrumpcion ther of, or cleyme of eny annewete—save only the seyde xv^o to the seide lord of Laverstoke. And so pesibili contened hys possession ther on yn to xxvii^o die Septembris, a^o xviii^o R. E. iiij^u. By hys dede beryng the same date [1478; see No. xj, pp. 60, 61], he made astate in fee, of and yn the seid landis, to John Towke of Wylton, John Hayes, and John Hall, clerk; that ys to sey, to the seyde John Towke in fee, and to the seyde John Hayes and John Halle as of fre hold; And so pesebyly contened here possession ther on with owt interrumpcion, or eny annewete claymed or paid there of, as the seid Alison and Richard Hayne had do, tyll xxiii^o die Marcii, a^o ij^o R. Ricardi iij^l. At that tyme the seid John Towke, John Hayes, and John Halle, by here dede beryng the same date, viz. xxiii^o die Marcii, a^o ij^o predicti regis Ricardi iij^l [1485; see above, No. xiiij, p. 63], they made astate ther of in fee to Robert Baynard, Robert South, John Hampton, and Richard Mondy; wheche Richard Mondy receyvyd the possession ther of by the handis of Thomas Halle. And so were they pesebely sesid thir of in here demene as in fee, wyth owt interrumpcion, or clayme of eny annewete, in maner and forme as ys before reherced: whos astate Thomas Tropenell now hath ther on. John Mompesson seyde at Edyngdon to the seid Thomas Tropenell, in owre Lady day the Assompcion, a^o primo R. That annewete may not be gode: for abowte a^o iiij^o R. E. iiij^l [1464] the seyde John Mompesson at Sarum askyd avice of the seid Thomas Tropenell what was best to be do in this mater; and seid 'this work ys now suche that my broder in law John Osborne most depert from hys titell of Uptons feld to Richard Hayne.' At that tyme the seid Thomas Tropenell avysed hym to charge the seide land wyth an [p. 67] annewete: how be hyt he knew nat the mater. And yet the seid John Osborne, the sone, had enfeffed the seid Thomas Tropenell in all the seid Thomas Uptonnes londis, with the erle of Wiltes, Ormond, the lordis Hungerford and Moleyns, Sir John of Beynton, knyght, Water Barow, and the seyde John Mompesson, as in a dede ther of more playnly hit apperyth, cujus data est x^{mo} die Feb. a^o xxxvj^o R. H. vj^u [1458; see above, No. iiij, p. 57]. At that tyme was no seche annewete graunted owt of the seid land by the seyde John Osborne, the sone, neyther by hys seyde feffees; and yf the seid John Osborne, the sone, or eny of hys feffees hadde charged the seyde land with eny such annewete, all had be voyde and of none effect: and for these cawsys folewyng: One ys the seyde Sir Wyllyam Fovent and John Thys feoffement made to the Erle of Wiltes and to the lordis Hungerford and Moleyns and other as hyt is above rehersed, hit was made of mentenance to the entent to kepe the heyrys of the seyde Thomas Upton fro the londes of Deneton Teffont and Warmestre, when the seyde Thomas Upton was dede, by the menis and concell of the seyde John Mompesson: for the seyde John Osborne, the sone of John, had wedded the seyde John Mompesson ys sester, and had many chylderyn by here.

Continetur in Annalibus pontificum Sarum inter gesta bone memorie domini Ricardi ¹ Episcopi Sarum, quod antiquitus canonici ecclesie Sarum residebant infra cepta castri Veteris Sarum usque ad tempus supradicti pontificis. In cujus tempore orta est persecutio super Johannem regem Anglorum ab Alemanis et aliis. Racione cujus persecutionis idem rex Anglorum precepit omnibus vicecomitibus et castellanariis suis quod curarent quatenus loca regia ubique regio usui custodirentur non obstantibus quibuscumque privelegiis juris ecclesiastici. Unde tali consilio usi sunt ministri regis quod clericos et canonicos infra castella regis residentes cum cautela expellerent. Quod quidem sic fecerunt. Appropinquante autem tempore Rogationum, omnes Canonici de clauso ecclesie Sarum cum ceteris ministris usque ad ecclesiam S. Martini processionaliter inierunt: et completo Rogationum officio ad clausum castri redierunt. Set ministri regis nullum intrare permiserunt. Unde tanquam filii ad patrem, discipuli ad magistrum, quidam de canonicis ad dominum Ricardum ² episcopum accesserunt Wilton dicentes sibi totaliter duriciam et injuriam eis factas, postulantes nichilominus quatinus paterna sollicitudine ³ remedium apponeret. Quibus auditis lacrimabiliter dicitur respondisse, 'Cum vos persecuti fuerint in una civitate ⁴ fugite in aliam,' et adjecit, 'Deo et beate Marie Virgini voveo et promitto quod caste Virginis, matris Christi, cameram et ecclesiam de castro et de carcere regalis potestatis laborabimus edificare, vita accommodata: et vos, filii mei carissimi, sustinete modicum tempus quia dies mali ⁵ sunt.' Et sic consolatus est eos. Post hec autem accessit ad regem Anglie Johannem predictum, petens ab eo licenciam quod posset, in fundo proprio, pro se et suis clericis de novo ad honorem beate Virginis ecclesiam fabricare, allegans duriciam sibi et suis et ecclesie beate Marie factam in tempore persecutionis, adjungens quod non esset in derogacionem Regis vel regni, et postulans ab eo tanquam a domino suo manus adjutrices. Cui Rex benignissime prebuit ¹ assensum, et [dixit] quod summum pontificem pro dicta ecclesia construenda adiret. Qui, gracias Deo reddens, et regi maneria sua exposuit in pignoracionem, et catalla sua mobilia et immobilia vendicioni. Curiam Romanam etenim profectus est ut a papa licenciam impetraret pro ecclesia prefata fundanda. Cui dominus papa decedens, literas papales fecit gratiosas Regi Anglorum, Johanni supradicto, directas, in quibus continebatur quatinus Rex episcopo assisteret ad prefatum opus peragendum, et alias literas dicto episcopo ac decano et capitulo, prout inferius notatum est. Recedens autem episcopus gaudens et ad patriam festinans, occurrit sibi nuncius Anglie Regis, et de morte ejus certificavit. Quo audito cepit episcopus dolere timens quod frustra totum laborem suum expendisset. Cum autem sero factum esset, et episcopus sopori se dedisset, apparuit sibi Virgo [p. 246] gloriosa consolans eum, et dixit ei quod non timeret de aliquo, set conceptum ² animi propositum viriliter adimpleret; et promisit quod in omnibus suis necessitatibus assisteret adjutrix. Expergefactus autem pontifex, de visione non modicum consolatus, ad propriam properabat. Interjecto vero tempore, novus rex Henricus Anglie tertius coronatur et apud Westmonasterium morabatur. Ad quem episcopus intrepidus, et quasi primus post coronacionem suam petitionem porrecturus, accessit, postulans pro ecclesia sua de castro Sarum transferenda. Ostendit regi et suo consilio bullas pape domino regi predecessori suo directas. Quibus inspectis rex, sano fretus consilio, annuit petitioni episcopi condescendere faciens ei ³ regias cartas, dans ei ³ et successoribus suis et ecclesie beate Marie Sarum potestatem regiam et libertates regias: necnon multa donaria et plura promisit. Rediens autem pastor pius ad gregem suam, convocat clerum et populum ostendens eis factum et expeditionem. Quibus occurrentibus et exilleratis, dixerunt, 'Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini.' Interim parat se Deo devotus antistes ad opus ceptum peragendum, sollicitus de loco pro basilica fabricanda. Tandem excogitat quod dominam Abbatissam de Wilton pro loco ecclesie et clausi canonicorum optinere possit, racione commoditatum circumjacencium; videlicet, aque, silve, et bone ville que tunc formosa fuit omnibus bonis referta: proposuit enim in quodam prato juxta Wilton predictam ecclesiam fabricare. Cum quadam vice pro isto negocio pertransiret Wilton, [ad] locum predictum contemplantum, dixit quedam vetula filatrix cuidam socie sue, 'Miror,'¹ inquit, 'de episcopo isto quod tociens Wilton vadit: forte intendit disponere Abbatissam, quia postquam de Roma venit solito sepius venit huc. Putas nunquid papa ne posset dispensare cum eo quod eam duceret in uxorem?' Cui respondit socia sua, 'Non est,' inquit, 'sic, set falsum de viro sancto opinaris; ipse autem intendit transferre ecclesiam et clausum de castro Sarum juxta Wilton.' Tunc dixit illa vetula filatrix, 'Nunquid [non] habet episcopus terram propriam nisi quod spoliat Abbatissam?' et adjecit, 'Nunquid fuit Deo carus qui sibi ipsi fuit avarus? Terras,' inquit, 'habet episcopus Sarum plures quam adhuc fundavit ecclesias.' Hoc audiens vir Dei statim cogitat de loco eligendo in dominio suo proprio. Set perplexus fuit, et ideo Altissimo, cujus dispositione nemo fallitur, [et] beate Marie Virgini se ipsum commendavit. Nocte vero sequente quadam visione confortatus est. Apparuit autem beata Virgo Maria dicens ei quod in loco cujus nomen Mirifeld eligeret sibi ecclesiam construendam: de cujus visione Episcopus non modicum confortatus laudes Deo egit. Diebus paucis interpositis, cogitat de ecclesia, set nomen loci sibi ostensum non occurrit. Deo tamen agente, et episcopo deambulante, dixit quidam de familiaribus episcopi quod videret quoddam jumentum in prato cui nomen Mirifeld; et episcopus hoc audiens, et se recoligens, quesivit de circumstantibus de loco predicto diligentius [p. 247] certitudinem. Quo cognito, episcopus² in eodem loco fundavit ecclesiam beate Marie Sarum anno gracie millesimo cc. xx^o, videlicet die S. Vitalis Martyris, mense Aprilis, xxvij^o die.

Et notandum est quod ante translacionem, predictus locus, qui jam est civitas, fuit unum maris³ vocatum Merifeld pro averiis pascendis et pertinens manerio de Mulford, non edificatus, videlicet anno gracie M^o cc. xvij^o. Et anno Domini tunc sequente predictus episcopus Ricardus, perpendens populum ad predictum locum de Meryfeld confluentem, et ibidem ad capellam ligneam⁴ supradictam diversa munera devotissime offerent[em] in honore beate Marie Virginis, ad regem Henricum accessit, eidem benignissime supplicando, ut de predicto loco de Merifeld, de gracia sua speciali, civitatem inde faceret, et ei⁵ libertates, franchises, inde faceret et concederet. Idem rex ad supplicacionem dicti Ricardi episcopi anno regni sui xj^o, et anno gracie M^o cc. xx[vij], concessit per literas suas graciosas sub suo magno sigillo in hec verba: Henricus, Dei gracia, Rex Anglie, dominus Hibernie, dux Normannie et Acquitanie, Comes Andegavie etc.

Ad que diligens lector se advertat intendendo ad infrascripta ; videlicet, quod episcopatus Sarum in duos olim episcopatus erat divisus, videlicet, in episcopatum Sunningensem [et] presulatum Shirburnensem, quousque Hermanus, ultimus episcopus Sunningensis, presulatum Shirburnensem ab Edwardo rege tertio ante conquestu[m] adquisitus, episcopatu suo copulavit et cathedram pontificalem ² utrorumque episcopatum Shirborne sibi continuit.³ Set rege Willelmo seniore duce Normannie, qui conquestus est ab Haroldo rege Anglorum totam Angliam, regnante, sinodali auctoritate ac ejusdem ⁴ regis munificencia, inde ad Sarisburiam veterem sedem suam mutavit. Notandum est quod anno regni Edwardi tercii xli^o Robertus² episcopus Sarum anno sue consecrationis xxxvij^o concessit pro toto tempore suo quod tam major, cives, et communitas civitatis Nove Sarum, quam alii emptores et venditores in civitate predicta, adeo liberi sint ab omnibus custumis et exactionibus sicut nostro³ et ultimi⁴ predecessoris nostri tempore melius et liberius extiterant quieti. Upon the whiche recovere in assise the seid Tho. And more over, the seid John Beaushyn, by dyverse dedes made before the seid recovere in the seid writte of right, and after, relessed in fee to the seid Tho. cofeffees of the seid Tho. Tropenell in fee: wherof the date of one dede is x^o die Nov. anno ij⁴⁰ Edw. iiij⁴ enrolled in the chauncery thus: irrotulatur in dorso clausarum cancellarie Regis infrascripti, mense et anno infrascriptis [1462; see No. ix, p. 442]: et data ij⁴⁰ carte relaxacionis vj⁴⁰ die Dec., anno ij⁴⁰ Edw. iiij⁴ [see No. x, p. 443]. And at the same tyme, the seid Edw. Basyng delyvered to the seid Tho. Tropenel ix dedes mo, concerning the same closes, now restyng and abidyng with the seid Tho. Tropenell.

Take this for a special remembraunce of trouthe,¹ that one Robert Andrew, steward of the seid maner and lordshipp of Trobrigge, and John Borne, his suster sone, fadir to John Borne that now is, begoten by hym upon the seid Alice Percy, otherwise called Pershay, lady of Westchaldefeld, late the wyf of the seid Richard Philippes, otherwise called Ric. Rous, bastard sone to the seid John Rous, fadir to the seid Will. Rous, lord of Estchaldefeld: the which seid Alice was doughter to John Percy, sone to Thomas Percy, sone to the seid John Percy, otherwise called Pershay, second husbond to the seid Constance, and sone to George Percy [the sone of George Percy]² the first lord of that name of Westchaldefeld: all wey of grete malice, were of counseil in all the forseid scire facias so sewed with bothe the seid Tho. Beverley, the fadir, and Tho. the sone; and farthermore procured hem bothe to have entred into the seid maner of Estchaldefeld, and put out the seid Will. Rous; and at all tymes, and specially at one tyme enforced, manned, and received the seid Tho. Beverley, the fadir, with many men of Salisbury, and of other places, in his hous at Westchaldefeld, to have entred upon the seid Will. Rous in Estchaldefeld, and to have put hym therfro. That is to sey, the vj⁴⁰ day of July, anno ix⁴⁰ H. vj⁴ [1431], the seid Will. Rous at that tyme kept his possession in the seid maner of Estchaldefeld, with the seid John Rous, his brother, Richard of Bowys, lawtenaunte of the forestes of Blakemore and Peuesham, Rob. Eyre, John Quyntyn, Will. Clerk, and her men, forsters of the seid forestes, and servauntes to the seid duke of Gloucestre, with many mo other harneyed [p. 363] to defende the seid entre.

And longe tyme ther before, was a grete debate atwixt Harry, cardenall of England and bisshope of Wynchester, and the seid duke of Gloucestre. And to the parliament of Leycestre, anno iiij⁴⁰ R. H. vj⁴ [1426], the seid cardenall and the seid duke come with moche peple; and the seid Will. Rous at that tyme come to the same parliament with the seid duke ayenst the seid cardenall.

Which comyng of the seid Will. Rous was gretly noted and disdeyned by the seid cardenall, he beyng at that tyme one of the feffees of the duchie of Lancastre, with Water, lord Hungerford, and other, wherof the seid lordshippe and maner of Trobrigge is parcell of the seid duchie. The seid cardenall and the seid Robert Andrewes by their assent to gedres of malice put the seid Will. Rous fro the seid office of Constablewyke of the castell of the lordshippe of Trobrigge, whiche was his of enheritaunce, in fourme forseid, and put thereon the seid John Bourne, the fader, of Westchaldefeld, nevew to the seid Rob. Andrew, the seid Will. Rous is olde grete enemye to occupie the seid office for a tyme. And after that, in the lyf of the seid John Bourne, the fader, and after his decese, one Thomas Hervy, of Hampshire, a yoman of the crowne with Kyng Harry the sixte, had the seid office, terme of his lyf, by patent, and so occupied hit by Harry the sixte is graunte tille he was slayne at Lambourne, in Barkshire, about the takyng of John Rogers.

And so for lak of sute made therfor ayene by the seid Will. Rous he afterward lost hit. For he was alwey occupied in lechery and avowtry, and toke none hede to sew therfor, but only for to devowre and selle away all his wodes and his tylestones, tymbre, and his houses.

And sithe the decese of the seid Will Rous, the seid Tho. Trope-nell, in ij the last yeres of the seid Kyng Harry the sixte, oft tymes sued to the counseil of the seid duchie of Lancastre, for the seid offices, shewyng his evidence and title to theym therof, and prayed to be amytted therto. And anno j^m Edw. iiij^m [1461] Barnard Colvile, of Westbury, for money, at that tyme beyng clerk of the courte of the seid lordshippe of Trobrigge, without any auctorite and comaundement admytted John Bourne, sone to the seid John Bourne and Alice, his wyf, to the seid office of constablewyke without all right title of enheritaunce or graunte [see p. 475 ; also No. lxxiiij, p. 434].

Also the seid John Bourne, the son, holdeth his lond of Westchaldefeld of the priour of Wosspryng.

The seid John Bourne, the son, and Alice, his modre, were never kyn ne alyed to Percyes of Estchaldefeld, neither to Fitz Waryns, Rouses, ne Beaushyns, ne never none of theym all claymed kyn to other : and everich of hem, in fader side and modir side, bereth armes contrary to other [p. 364] as hit appereth in this boke in her scochons. And the seid Estchaldefeld is hold of the seid lordshippe of Trobrigge, as in the begynnyng of this boke is expressed.

And after all this done, for a finall determynacion, and yn excludyng perpetually the seyde Will. Beweshyn, the sone of Johan Beweshyn, ys titels, the seyde Tho. Beverley, the sone and heire of Tho. Beverley, cosyn and heyre to the seyde sere Harry Percy, sewed an other scire facias ayenst the seyde Will. Beweshyn for the seyde maner of Estchaldefeld, with the avowson of the same; uppon the wheche the seyde Will. Beweshyn by his attorney, John Venne, term. S. Mich., anno vj^{mo} Edw. iiiij^{to} Ro. Dxlj [1466], came in to the Kynges court at Westm., and pleded the forseide relese made by the seyde Beatryce, dowghter and heyre to the seyde Sir Harry Percy to the seyde Constaunce, and brought hym to the court there, and openly radde by fore all the jugys : cujus data est apud Poterne, die Ven. in crastino Assenc. Dni. anno r. R. Ed. iij^{to} post conq. xxxv^{to} [7 May, 1361; see No. xv, p. 376] as hit aperith of recorde, and were at an ysseu. Where uppon the seyde Thomas Beverley recovered, and hadde jugement [June 1467]. Uppon the whech recovere the seyde Tho. Beverley hadde exicucion of the seyde maner with the avowson, and the purtenaunces etc. : wheche ys exemplied, and seled with the sele of the wrytys of the comyn place of Westm., as ye shall fynde hit wrete in this boke folowyng at the nombre of lxxvij [see pp. 458-462].

And after all this done, the seyde Tho. Beverley departeth ayen from his titell to the seyde Tho. Tropenell by dyvers dedis etc. [see p. 463, &c.]

This is the ende and the trewe determynacion of all pedegrees and mean astates in substance of all enheritours, purchasours, and occupiers of the maner of Moche Chaldefeld, otherwise called Estchaldefeld, with the office of Constablewyke of the Castell of Trobrigge.

maner of Estchaldefeld and not for that other half of the seid William Rous is enheritaunce which cometh to hym by his seid modir Isowde: This is the cause why, Forasmoche as the seid Johan Beaushyn, suster to the seid Isowde and aunte to the seid William Rous, is enheritable by the taile to the one half of the seid maner as heire to the seid William Rous and Isowde his modir, so of that one half the warante is lynyal and nat collaterall, and so no barre of that halfendele of the seid maner, bycause the seid Johan, his aunte, had not as moche fee symple lond by discent by the seid William Rous, her newew, neither by the seide Isowde, her suster. The other half of the seid maner of Estchaldefeld that was in the possession of the seid William Rous pertheyned to the seid Johan Beaushyn, aunte to the seid William Rous, as heire with hym to theire common aunceter above by force of the seid taile, that is to sey, to Sir Philipp Fitz Waryn, knyght, and to Constance his wyf, fadir and modir to the seid Isowde and Johan. So the warante made therof by the seid William Rous is collaterall to the seid Johan Beaushyn, and to all her heires for ever, and nat lynyel: and every collaterall warante is a barre.

in fine, fratris predicti Johannis Percy, pro eo quod idem Johannes Percy obiit sine herede de corpore suo exeunte apud Sherbourne in comitatu Dorset—per quoddam scriptum suum quod eadem Johanna hic in curia profert, cujus data est sexto decimo die mensis Marci, anno regni domini Edwardi nuper regis Anglie tercii post conquestum tricesimo, per nomen Johannis, filii Rogeri de Percy, militis, remisit, relaxavit, et omnino de se, et heredibus suis imperpetuum, quietum clamavit eidem Constancie per nomen domine Constancie, que fuit uxor domini Henrici de Percy, militis, heredibus et assignatis suis imperpetuum, totum jus et clameum que habuit, seu quovismodo extunc infuturum habere posset, in predicto manerio de Estchaldefeld, inter alia terras et tenementa per nomen maneriorum de Chaldefeld Magna, in comitatu Wiltes, et Folke, in comitatu Dorset, cum advocacionibus ecclesiarum eorundem, et cum omnibus et singulis eorum pertinentiis, quod quidem manerium de Estchaldefeld, unde predictae triginta acre terre tunc fuerunt parcellae, eadem [p. 412] Constancia adtunc tenuit, et ipsa Constancia adtunc inde seisisita fuit in dominico suo ut de feodo: Ita quod nec idem Johannes Percy, nec heredes sui, nec aliquis alius nomine suo, in maneriis predictis, seu eorum altero, aut advocacionibus predictis, cum &c., aliquid juris vel clamei extunc infuturum exigere vel vindicare possent, set per idem scriptum ab omni juris clameo totaliter essent exclusi imperpetuum: Et predictus Johannes, filius Rogeri, per idem scriptum obligavit se et heredes suos ad warrantandum omnia predicta maneria et advocaciones supradictas, cum &c., prefate Constancie, heredibus et assignatis suis, contra omnes gentes imperpetuum: cujus quidem Constancie statum in predictis triginta acris terre, cum &c., modo petitis, adtunc parcellis manerii de Estchaldefeld predicta, eadem Johanna, que fuit uxor Thome, modo habet in eisdem: et hoc parata est verificare, unde petit iudicium si predictus Thomas Beverley execucionem de eisdem triginta acris terre, cum &c., contra predictum scriptum predicti Johannis, filii Rogeri de Percy, militis, cujus heres idem Thomas Beverley in forma predicta existit, quod warranciam in se continet, versus eam habere debeat, etc. Et predicti Edwardus et Elena, quoad predictas sexaginta et sexdecim acras pasture et quatuor acras prati, cum &c. versus eos petitas, petunt iudicium de brevi predicto, quia dicunt quod predictus Thomas Beverley post ultimam continuacionem placiti predicti, scilicet, post quindenam Pasche proxime preterite, de qua quidem quindenam processus inde continuatus fuit usque ad has octabas S. Michaelis, et ante easdem octabas, intravit in predictas sexaginta et sexdecim acras pasture et quatuor acras prati, cum &c., et inde seisitus fuit in dominico suo ut de feodo: et hoc parati sunt verificare: unde petunt iudicium de brevi illo, etc. Et predictus Thomas Beverley, quoad predictum placitum predictorum Edwardi et Elene quoad predictas sexaginta et sexdecim acras &c. et quatuor &c. cum &c. superius versus eos petitas, dicit quod ipse non potest dedicere quin ipse post predictam quindenam Pasche, et ante predictas octabas S. Michaelis intravit in easdem sexaginta &c., cum &c., modo et forma quibus predicti Edwardus &c. superius allegaverunt. Ideo consideratum est quod idem Thomas Beverley quoad easdem sexaginta &c. superius versus eosdem Edwardum &c. petitas nichil capiat per breve suum predictum etc: et iidem Edwardus &c. eant inde sine die etc. Et quoad predictum placitum predictae Johanne, que fuit &c., quoad predictas triginta &c. superius versus eam petitas, idem Thomas Beverley, non cognoscendo aliqua per predictam Johannam superius allegata, dicit quod ipse, per aliqua per ipsam Johannam preallegata, ab executione sua de eisdem triginta &c. cum &c. in forma predicta habenda precludi non debet; quia dicit quod predicti Henricus Percy, miles, et Constancia fuerunt seisis de manerio de [p. 413] Estchaldefeld predicta, cum &c., in fine predicto nominato, in dominico suo ut de feodo talliato virtute finis predicti, unde eodem¹ triginta acre terre tunc fuerunt parcelle tempore levacionis ejusdem finis; postmodumque idem Henricus obiit, sine herede inter ipsum Henricum et prefatam Constanciam procreato, et eadem Constancia ipsam supervixit, et se tenuit in eodem manerio, cum &c., ut tenens in tallio post possibilitatem exitus extinctam, dictis triginta acris terre adtunc existentibus parcellis ejusdem manerii, et de tali statu de eodem manerio fuit inde seisis tempore confeccionis predicti scripti relaxacionis: absque hoc quod eadem Constancia fuit seisis de manerio illo, cum &c., in dominico suo ut de feodo tempore confeccionis ejusdem scripti relaxacionis prout predicta Johanna, que fuit &c. superius allegavit: et hoc paratus est verificare: unde petit iudicium et executionem earundem triginta &c. cum &c. sibi adjudicari, etc. Et predicta Johanna, que fuit &c. dicit quod ipsa Constancia tempore confeccionis predicti scripti relaxacionis fuit seisis de predicto manerio de Estchaldefeld, cum &c., in dominico suo ut de feodo tempore confeccionis &c. in forma qua eadem Johanna superius allegavit: Et de hoc ponit se super patriam. Et predictus Thomas Beverley similiter. Ideo preceptum est vicecomiti quod venire faciat hic in octabis S. Trinitatis venit hic tam predictus Thomas Beverley quam predicti Thomas Tropenell et Jacobus per attornatos suos predictos. Et super hoc predictus Thomas Beverley dicit quod ipse est consanguineus et heres predicti Henrici Percy, viz. filius Thome, filii Beatricis, filie predicti Henrici Percy: et petit versus predictos Thomam Tropenell et Jacobum execucionem de predicto manerio de Estchaldefeld et advocacione ecclesie ejusdem manerii, cum &c., etc. Et predicti Thomas Tropenell et Jacobus dicunt quod predictus Thomas Beverley execucionem &c. cum &c. habere non debet, quia dicunt quod dictus Thomas Beverley post mortem predicti Henrici Percy fuit seisitus de manerio predicto in dominico suo ut de feodo, et de advocacione predicta ut de feodo et jure: et sic inde seisitus, idem Thomas Beverley, per nomen Thome Beverley, consanguinei et heredis Henrici Percy, militis, viz. filius Thome &c., per quandam cartam suam sigillo ipsius Thome Beverley sigillatam, quam iidem Thomas Tropenell et Jacobus hic in curia proferunt, cujus data est iv^o die Decembris, anno r. domini Regis nunc xxxiiij^o, manerium predictum, cum &c., ac advocacionem ecclesie ejusdem manerii, per nomen manerii sui de Estchaldefeld in com. Recuperacio in assisa nove disseisine per Thomam Tropenell, armigerum, versus Johannam Beweshyn et Willelmum Beweshyn, filium et heredem predicte Johanne, de manerio de Estchaldefeld : exempleta [sic] in cancellaria domini Regis, et sigillata cum magno sigillo.

Edwardus, Dei gracia, Rex Anglie et Francie et dominus Hibernie, omnibus &c. salutem : Inspeximus tenorem recordi et processus cujusdam assise nove disseisine quam Thomas Tropenell arrainavit coram dilectis et fidelibus nostris, Nicholao Ayssheton et Waltero Moille, nuper justiciariis ad assisas in com. Wiltes capiendas assignatis per breve H. vjⁱ nuper de facto et non de jure regis Anglie, versus Johannam, que fuit uxor Thome Beweshyn, et Willelmum Beweshyn, armigerum, de libero tenemento suo in Estchaldefeld, quem coram nobis in cancellaria nostra venire fecimus in hec verba: Placita assisarum, apud Novam Sarum. coram Nicholao Ayssheton et Waltero Moyle, justiciariis domini Regis ad assisas in com. Wiltes capiendas assignatis, die Mercurii proximo ante festum S. Margarete, Virginis, anno r. R. Henrici vjⁱ post conq. xxxvijⁱ Wiltes. [18 July, 1459]. Assisa venit recognitura si Johanna, que fuit &c. et Willelmus Beweshyn, armiger, injuste etc. disseisiverunt Thomam Tropenell de libero tenemento suo in Estchaldefeld post primam etc.: Et unde idem Thomas in propria persona sua queritur quod disseisiverunt eum de manerio de Estchaldefeld, cum pertinenciis, etc. [p. 43]. Et predictus Willelmus in propria persona sua venit, et predicta Johanna non venit, set quidam Johannes Donn respondit pro ea, tanquam ejus ballivus, et pro ipsa dicit quod predictus Thomas nunquam fuit seisitus de manerio predicto, cum &c., de tali statu ita quod potuit inde disseisiri, et si etc. tunc idem ballivus dicit quod eadem Johanna nullam injuriam seu disseisinam prefato Thome de predicto manerio, cum &c., fecit. Et de hoc ponit se super assisam. Et predictus Thomas similiter. Ideo capiatur inde inter eos assisa, etc. Et predictus Willelmus respondit ut tenens manerii predicti, cum &c., ut de libero tenemento, et dicit quod assisa inde inter ipsum et prefatum Thomam fieri non debet, quia dicit quod predicta Johanna in brevi predicto nominata nuper fuit seisita de eodem manerio, cum &c., in dominico suo ut de feodo, et sic inde seisita manerium illud, cum &c., dimisit eidem Willelmo, habendum sibi ad terminum vite sue; virtute cujus dimissionis idem Willelmus fuit et est inde seisitus in dominico suo ut de libero tenemento; et predictus Thomas clamat manerium predictum, cum &c., colore cujusdam facti feoffamenti sibi et heredib. suis imp. per predictam Johannam inde facti, diu ante predictam dimissionem per eandem Johannam eidem Willelmo in forma predicta factam: ubi nichil manerii illius, cum &c., in possessionem ipsius Thome per factum illud unquam transivit, in manerium illud, cum &c., intravit; super cujus quidem Thome possessionem inde idem Willelmus in manerium illud, cum &c., recenter reintravit prout ei bene licuit. Et hoc paratus est verificare: unde petit judicium, si assisa inde inter ipsum et prefatum Thomam in hac parte fieri debeat etc. Et predictus Thomas Tropenell dicit, quod ipse per aliqua preallegata ab assisa sua predicta habenda precludi non debet; quia dicit quod ipsemet alias, et ante predictam dimissionem de manerio predicto in forma predicta factam, scilt., primo die Januarii, anno regni domini Regis nunc xxxvij^o, extra cancellariam domini Regis nunc prosecutum fuit quoddam breve ejusdem domini Regis de recto, quod vocatur Precipe in capite, versus predictam Johannam, per nomen Johanne, que fuit uxor Thome Beweshyn, de manerio predicto, cum &c., eadem Johanna adtunc inde tenente ut de libero tenemento, quod quidem breve directum fuit tunc vicecomiti com. Wiltes, retornabile coram justiciariis ejusdem domini Regis de banco, apud Westm., in octabis S. Hillarii tunc proxime sequentis. Ad quas quidem octabas S. Hillarii, coram Johanne Prysot et sociis suis tunc justiciariis ipsius dom. Regis nunc, apud Westm. predictum venit tam idem Thomas in propria persona sua, quam predicta Johanna per Willelmum Brayn attornatum suum : et predictus tunc vicecomes Wiltes, viz. Hugo Pakenham, adtunc retornavit ibidem predictum breve de recto in omnibus plenariis serviciis et execucionibus : et super hoc idem Thomas, coram eisdem tunc justiciariis in curia dom. Regis nunc ibidem petiit versus predictam Johannam manerium predictum, cum &c., ut jus et hereditatem suam per dictum breve ejusdem dom. Regis nunc de recto, narrando et dicendo quod ipsemet fuit seisitus de manerio predicto, cum &c., in dominico suo ut de feodo et jure, tempore pacis, tempore ejusdem dom. Regis nunc, capiendo inde explecias ad valenciam, etc. [p. 431] et quod tale fuit jus suum optulit etc. Et predicta Johanna per attornatum suum predictum adtunc venit et defendit jus predicti Thome quando etc. et seisinam ejus de cujus seisina, etc. ut de feodo et jure et totum, etc. et maxime de predicto manerio, cum &c., et vocavit inde ad warantizandum Walterum Seynt John qui tunc ibidem fuit presens in eadem curia in propria persona sua, et gratis predictum manerium, cum &c., ei warantizavit. Super quo idem Thomas Tropenell adtunc et ibidem petiit versus predictum Walterum tenentem per warantiam suam predictam manerium illud, cum &c., in forma predicta, etc. Et unde idem Thomas dixit quod ipsemet fuit seisitus de predicto manerio, cum &c., in dominico suo ut de feodo et jure, tempore pacis, tempore dom. Regis nunc, capiendo inde explecias ad valenciam, etc. Et quod tale fuit jus suum optulit, etc. Ad quod idem Walterus, tenens per waranciam suam predictam, adtunc et ibidem coram eisdem justiciariis defendebat jus predicti Thome Tropenell quando, etc. et seisinam ejus de cujus seisina, etc. ut de feodo et jure, etc. et maxime de predicto manerio, cum &c., et totum, etc. Et posuit se inde in magnam assisam ejusd. dom. Regis, et petiit recognitionem fieri, utrum ipse majus jus habuit tenendi manerium predictum, cum &c., sicut illud tenuit ut tenens inde per waranciam suam predictam, an predictus Thomas Tropenell habendi manerium,

&c., cum &c., sicut illud in eadem curia adtunc superius petiit. Et super hoc idem Thomas Tropenell adtunc ibidem petiit licenciam inde interloquendi. Et habuit, etc. Postmodumque idem Thomas in propria persona sua ad easdem octabas revenit ibidem in eadem curia, et predictus Walterus, licet solempniter exactus fuit, non revenit, set in contemptum curie illius defaultam fecit, per quod adtunc ibidem consideratum fuit in eadem curia, quod predictus Thomas Tropenell recuperaret seisinam suam versus predictam Johannam de predicto manerio, cum &c., tenendo eidem Thome et heredibus suis quiete de predicta Johanna, et heredibus suis, et de predicto Waltero, et hered. suis imp., et quod eadem Johanna haberet de terra predicti Walteri ad valenciam manerii predicti, cum &c., et idem Walterus esset in misericordia dom. Regis: virtute quorum recuperacionis et iudicii idem Thomas Tropenell in manerium illud, cum &c., intravit et inde seisitus fuit in dominico suo ut de feodo pretextu recuperacionis et iudicii illorum, quousque predicta Johanna ipsum inde injuste et sine iudicio disseisivit, que quidem Johanna post disseisinam illam sic factam manerium illud, cum &c., dimisit prefato Willelmo habendum sibi ad terminum vite sue prout idem Willelmus superius allegavit. Super cujus quidem Willelmi possessionem inde idem Thomas in manerium predictum, cum &c., recenter reintravit, et inde seisitus fuit in dominico suo ut de feodo quousque predicti Johanna et Willelmus ipsum inde injuste et sine iudicio disseisiverunt. Et hoc paratus est verificare: unde petit iudicium, et quod procedatur inde ad capcionem assise, etc. Et predictus Willelmus dicit quod eadem Johanna predicto die impetracionis predicti brevis de recto, viz. predicto primo die Januarii non fuit tenens ut de libero tenemento manerii predicti, cum &c., nec unquam fuit, eodem brevi de recto pendente: ymmo dicit quod ipsemet dicto die impetracionis predicti brevis de recto, et semper postea, eodem brevi pendente, fuit tenens ejusd. manerii, cum &c., [p. 432] ut de libero tenemento, et hoc paratus est verificare, etc. Et sic dicit quod recuperacio predicta de manerio illo, cum &c., pro prefato Thoma, in forma predicta habita, fuit cassa et vacua, et in lege terre nullius vigoris: unde petit iudicium, et quod predictus Thomas de assisa sua predicta habenda precludatur, etc. Et predictus Thomas Tropenell dicit quod predicta Johanna, predicto j^o die Jan., fuit tenens ut de libero tenemento de predicto manerio, cum &c., et continue postea, predicto brevi de recto pendente, et tempore recuperacionis predictae. Et hoc petit quod inquiratur per assisam: et predictus Willelmus similiter. Ideo capiatur inde inter eos assisa etc. Recognitores exacti venerunt qui ad veritatem de premissis dicendam electi, triati, et jurati, dicunt super sacramentum suum, quod predicta Johanna, j^o die Jan., fuit tenens ut de libero tenemento de, predicto manerio, cum &c., in eorum visu posito et continue in predicto brevi de recto pendente, ac tempore recuperacionis predicte : et ulterius dicunt super sacramentum suum quod predictus Thomas fuit seisitus de predicto manerio, cum &c., in dominico suo ut de libero tenemento quousque predictus Willelmus ipsum inde injuste, et sine iudicio, set non vi nec armis, disseisivit : et quod predicta Johanna non interfuit disseisine illi : et assident dampna ipsius Thome, tam occasione disseisine illius, quam pro misis et custagiis suis per ipsum circa sectam suam inde in hac parte apposis, ad viginti solidos. Ideo consideratum est quod predictus Thomas recuperet seisinam suam de predicto manerio, cum &c., in visu posito, et in querela assise predicte specificato, per visum recognitorum assise predicte, et dampna sua predicta ad viginti solidos per eosdem recognitores superius assessa. Et predictus Willelmus in misericordia, etc. et similiter predictus Thomas in misericordia pro falso clameo suo versus predictam Johannam de disseisina predicta unde eadem Johanna superius acquietata existit etc.

[P. 470.] Thise ben the answerys of Thomas Tropenell, squier, against the title of alle thoo that woll clayme to be heire or heires to Sir Herry Percy, knyght, for the maner of Estchaldefeld.

Fyrst, it is a good answer how anno xxxviij° [1459] one Chaldefeld Thomas Beverley sued a scire facias against the seid Thomas Tropenell to execute a fyne of a remaindre in fee of the seid maner as right heire to the seid Sir Herry Percy, which made his cosyngage as sone to Thomas Beverley, sone to Beatrice, doughtir to the seid Sir Herry, as it more pleyntly appereth in the seid record, anno etc., and in this boke registred amonge the dedys of Chaldefeld at the nombre of lxx : at whiche tyme the seid Thomas Tropenell was tenaunt and pled in barre of the seid execucion that the pleyntif hymself long tyme after the dethe of the seid Thomas, his fader, Beatrice, and Herry, that the seid Thomas Beverley was seised of the seid maner of Chaldefeld in his demeane as in fee, and by his dede enfeoffed the seid Thomas Tropenell, with othir, of the seid maner, to have to the seid Thomas Tropenell, and other, and to the heires of the seid Thomas Tropenell : whiche dede the seid Thomas Beverley cowde not withsaye, but confessed it to be his dede in court of recorde : wheruppon it was awarded that he shulde be barred : which is a sufficient barre against all the heyres of the seid Sir Herry that shuld clayme by that fyne etc. : and is exemplified and sealed with the seale of the writtes of the Comyn Place.

Item, another clere barre against all the heyres of the seid Sir Herry. One John Beverley, collaterall auncestre to all the heyres of the seid Sir Herry—that is to wete, the yongest sone of the seid Beatrice, doughtir to Sir Herry, and brother to Thomas, fader to Thomas Beverley that sued the scire facias—by dyvers dedys relesed with a warante to the seid Thomas Tropenell, and to his heires for ever, by one dede in this boke registered among the dedes of Chaldefeld at the nombre of iiiij j [lxxxj], and by another dede registred among the dedys of Chaldefeld at the nombre of lxxv, made to Gilbert Kymer, deane of Newe Salesbury, and other, that tyme tenantes of the frehold of the seid maner, whos estate the seid Thomas Tropenell hath in the seid maner : whiche John died an heremyte without heires of his bodye : [p. 471] and so his warante descended upon the heire of the seid Sir Herry Percy, which is a sufficient barre in all accions.

Thise ben the answeres of Thomas Tropenell, squier, against the tittle of Johan Bewshen, the doughter of Constance, and hir heires for the maner of Estchaldefeld.

Fyrst, the seid Thomas Tropenell hath a collaterall Chaldefeld warante of one William Rous, which was collaterall auncestre to Johan Bewshen and to hir heyres as for the moyte of the seid maner of Estchaldefeld, that is to sey, the sone of Isowde, doughter to Constance and suster to Johan Bewshen : whiche William Rous was seised of the seid maner by partition betwene hym and the seid Johan, after the dethe of Constance as heires to the seid Constance : and of the seid maner enfeoffed the seid Thomas Tropenell by fyne, and by dede with a warante, as it appereth in this boke registred amonge the dedes of Chaldefeld, at the nombre of xxvj (see p. 385, &c.), and at the nombre of xxxiiij (p. 393), in the whiche it appereth a clere barre for the moyte that affered to Johan etc. ✕ Item, an other clere barre of the seyde hole maner for the seyde Thomas Tropenell ayenst the seyde Johane Bewshyn and alle here heyrys. One John Rous that deyde withoutt issewe, yonger brother to the seyde William Rous, by dyvers [sic] dedys selyd with the sele of his armys, cujus data fuit ² xij^o die Julii, anno xxxij^o Regis Henrici vjⁱ, relesed with warente to the seyde Thomas Tropenell, and to his heyrys, all his ryghts and tytell he hadde yn the seyde maner, with gret wetnesses under selys of here armys, and other selys awtentyke, as hit more playnly aperyth yn thys boke, regestred at the number of iiiij jj [lxxxij] : in the last ende ³ of all the dedys of Chaldefelde ✕.¹

Item, another clere barre of the hole maner against the seid Johan Bewshen and hir heires. For the seid Thomas Tropenell, after this tyme, viz. anno xxxvij^o Hen. vj etc., recovered the seid maner of Estchaldefelde by a writte of right against the seid Johan wheryn the seid Johan vouched Walter Seynt John, whiche entred in to warante and afterward made defeaute : whereupon juggedment fynall was gyven for the seid Thomas Tropenell against the seid Johan and hir heires : whiche is a clere barre, in all accions, against the seid Johan and hir heires : registred among the dedes of Chaldefeld at the number of lxxvij.

And if any man wolde false that recoverie in the wrytte of wright, that is to sey, that the seid Johan was not tenaunt in dede of the seid maner of Estchaldefeld at the tyme of the seide recoverie : thereto it is to be answered, that after the seid recoverie the seid Thomas Tropenell arrained assise of novel disseisin, against the seid Johan and one William her sone and heire, of a disseisin done by theym to hym of the seid maner, in the whiche assise the seid William was tenant and pled in barre : [p. 472] And the seid Thomas Tropenell made his title by the seid recoverie etc. to the which the seid William replied and seid that the seid Johan was not tenaunt at the tyme of the seid wrytte of right purchased, nor no tyme hangyng the same, intendyng to have avoyded and falsed the seid recoverie in the writte of right : which was tried and founde that the seid Johan was tenant, as it appereth in the seid assise, viz. anno ij^{do} regis Edward ivth, and exemplified in the chauncerie : whiche is a good and a sure evidence provyng the recoverie in the writte of right to be good and effectuell : registred among the dedys of Chaldefeld, at the number of lxxj.

Also it is to be clerely understonde, that the pretended title and colour that the seid Johan Bewshen hath claymed, or hir heires in tyme hereafter woll clayme, the seid maner of Estchaldefeld, is and hath ben by reason of a fyne leved the xxxv yere of Kyng Edward the ij^{do} to one Philip Fitz Waryn, knyght, and Constance his wyfe, and to the heyres of ther bodies comyng, as it appereth in the seid fyne, and in this boke registred among the dedys of Estchaldefelde, at the number of xvij : whiche fyne is avoided and destroyed by one Thomas Beverley, the sone of Thomas, whiche sued a Scire facias, as cosyn and heyre to the seid Sir Herry Percy, to execute a fyne of a remainder leved to the right heires of the seid Sir Herry, against the seid William Bewshen, the sone of the seid Johan, which fyne was leved long tyme before the seid fyne leved to the seid Sir Philipp Fitz Waryn and Constance, that is to wete, the xxvij yere of Kyng Edward the ij^{do}, as it appereth in the seid fyne, and in this boke also registred among the dedes of Estchaldefeld at the sygne of the number of xj : in the which Scire facias, the seid William was tenant, and pled in barre, as it appereth by the seid recorde, the vj yere of Kyng Edward the iijth, in this boke registred among the dedys of Estchaldefeld, at the signe of the number of lxxvj, [by] the whiche appereth, that the seid Thomas

Beverley had execucion, and entred, and was therof seised in his demeane as of fee : whos estate the seid Thomas Tropenell hathe, whiche mater is a clere barre in excludyng [p. 473] and avoydyng of the title of the seid Johan, and the seid William Bewshen, hir sone and heire, and all their heires for evermore, to clayme eny thyng by reason of the seid fyne arered to the seid Sir Philippe Fitz Waryn and Constance : or by eny relese made by Beatris, or eny other, to Constaunce here aunceter.¹

These beth the answerys ayenst all the fals, pretended, and ymagyned tytelys of John Bourn to the maner of Moch Chaldefeld, otherwyse called Estchaldefeld.

Be hit remembrid and had in mynd, that all the lordys Chaldefeld and owners of the maner of Moch Chaldefeld, otherwyse ^{feld} callid Estchaldefeld, in Edwardis the third dayes, allwey afore and after, everych of theym after other, were callyd Percy of Moch Chaldefeld. To the whiche maner one John Bourne, of West Chaldefeld, otherwise callid Litell Chaldefeld, dayly ymagenyth, and of long tyme hath done, with all his subtyll and evill disposed counceill, as Wittokkysmede and other, that they in eny wise kane or may, agenst all trouth and conscience, to make hym a tytyle to the seid maner of Moch Chaldefeld ; because that iiij of his auncestres be his moder syde, that is to witt, George, Thomas, John, and John, fader to Alys, moder to the seid John Bourne, were callid Pershays of West Chaldefeld, otherwise callid Percyes, which Pershay of West Chaldefeld were never kyn to Percyes, lordes and owners of Moch Chaldefeld, otherwise callid Est Chaldefeld, which maybe sufficiently proved be the differens of their armes ; for all the Percyes, lordys and owners some tyme of Moche Chaldefeld, otherwise callid Est Chaldefeld, bare theis armes, a felde of asure, v mylle pykkes of golde, or fysellis ; and all the Percehays of Westchaldefeld alwey have borne theis armes, a felde of Ermyn, the chief of gowles, with a lyon passant of gold crowned with asure in the chief, which ar in a wyndowe at Attewardis church ; and in his owne place, in his parlour wyndowe, he beryth a felde ermyne, the chief of gowles, a lyon passant of sylver in the chief : I trow he understondes not whether he haught to bere. And for a more large and fether prove that Percyes of Moche Chaldefeld and Percehays of Westchaldefeld were never of kyne nor of alye to gider, John Percehay of Westchaldefeld, auncestre to the seid John Bourne, that is to witt, fader to [erasure] John, fader to John, fader to Alis, moder to the seid John Bourne, wedded one Constance which was the ij^{de} wiff of Sir Herry Percy, the last owner of all the Percyes of the seid maner of Moch

M³ that the seyde George Percy, alias Percehay, and Margaret his wyf, by the wheche Margaret Lytell Chaldefeld moved, hadde isseu iij sones, that ys to sey, George, Thomas, and Nicolas : the seyde George and Nicolas deyed without isseu : Thomas hadde isseu John, and John hadde isseu John, and John hadde isseu Alise, and Alise hadde isseu John Bourne that now ys lord of Litell Chaldefeld.

Also for a more clere answer to the title of the seid Nicholas Hall, or any that wold cleym the parcelles aforseid : one Thomas Beverley, as cosyn and heir to one Sir Herry [Percy] entred in the seid maner of Estchaldefeld, that tyme the parcelles afore rehersed was parcell, by reson of a fynne of a remainder tailed to the right heyres of the seid Sir Herry, anno xxviij E. iijrd, registred in this boke at the nombre of xj [p. 374]; which fynne was long tyme before that William Rous, or any of his auncestres, had ought in the maner of Chaldefeld, wherupon it apperyth that all mesne possession of the said maner, or any parcell therof, to be void : whos estat of the said Thomas Beverley in the said maner the said Thomas Tropenell hath : which is a clere ansuer to all maner titles of Nicholas Hall and his heyres, or any that claym the seid maner, or any parcell of the same maner.
