PREFACE.

This compilation consists of three parts :—

The first part contains the personal history of the parish, so far as it can be gathered from the register and other public documents.

The second part enumerates the various benefactions received at various times.

The third part relates the history of the public elementary school until November, 1905, when it was handed over to the management of the County Council.

1823. An Act of Parliament orders that Churchwardens shall provide a proper book of substantial paper, marked and ruled respectively in manner directed, for the register book of banns of marriage; and the banns shall be published from the said register book of banns by the officiating minister, and not from loose papers, and after publication shall be signed by the officiating minister or by some person under his direction. Banns of marriage are of force only for three months from the date of the latest publication.

1836, August 17. An Act of Parliament passed for registering births, deaths, and marriages, orders two books for registering marriages to be kept in each parish, and copies of these marriages to be transmitted every quarter to the Registrar in London, an officer newly created, and the act contains a clause declaring that "nothing herein contained shall affect the registration of baptisms or burials as now by law established."

The clergy men are still bound by the Act of 1812 to transmit copies of baptisms and burials to the Registrar of the diocese.

NORTH WRAXHALL REGISTERS.

- The Registers consist of nine volumes,
- (1) A book in which William Lacy, Rector 1732—1761, states
“A true copy (as well as I was able to pick it out from an old ragged, defaced piece of a book) of the Register from March 25th, 1677.” This extends to 1711.
57 baptisms, 18 weddings, 110 burials, are thus recovered.
A whole leaf and part of another of burials, from 1691 to 1694, are missing. The first entry of baptism, burial and marriage is 1677, June 12, Sarah, baptised, daughter of Thomas and Sarah Parry.
,, April 8, Margaret, wife of William Warren, buried.
,, November 4, Daniel Holder, married to Margaret Warren.
The last baptism recorded is
1803, May 29, Sarah, daughter of Daniel and Sarah Billett.
The last burial recorded is 1802, August 22, James Freeme.
The last marriage recorded is 1753-4, January 24, Thomas Holder and Ann Schneider, both living in this parish.
  - (2) A Register of marriages from 1754—1812, conformable to an “Act for the better preventing of clandestine marriages” passed in 1753. This book contains 34 marriages by licence, and 106 after banns, altogether 140, all duly indexed. Of the persons married by licence, 18 females and 25 males signed their names, and of the persons married after banns, 23 females and 41 males signed their names. Richard Davis and Mary Webb is the first entry, June 3rd, 1754, and Samuel Wicks and Jane Simons, November 17th, 1812, is the last. This book contains 69 publications of banns, a long gap occurring between 1786 and 1808, omitting at the least forty publications, 35 during the rectorship of Henry Still and 5 during that of Jonathan Cope.
  - (3) The third volume is a Register of births and christenings and of burials, from August 7th, 1803, to November 29th, 1812; 68 persons were baptised, 41 males and 27 females. Of the 68 persons baptised 1 male and 3 females are illegitimate, the date of the birth of 8 is not recorded, the date of registration of 17 is given, 1 on the day of baptism, 16 after the day of baptism, 9 being registered June 24th, 1804. 56 persons were buried, 28 males and 28 females. Females reached the ages of 96, 91, 88, and two of 84; males reached the ages of 87, 84, and three of 80 years.
- 1812, July 28, was passed an Act of Parliament for the better regulating and preserving Parish and other Registers of births, marriages, and burials, to be kept in separate books.
Three new Registers were begun,
- (1) of marriages, containing 54 entries between March 14th, 1814, and May 20th, 1817, 11 by licence, 43 after publication of banns. All married by licence signed their names, and 19 males and 8 females, married after banns, signed their names,
  - (2) of baptisms, containing 800 entries, 403 of males and 397 of females, between February 21st, 1813, and June 16th, 1889, 27 illegitimate, 9 males and 18 females,
  - (3) of burials, beginning March 10th, 1813.
  - (4) of banns of marriage, beginning with January 11th, 1824.
- In 1837 the registration of marriages was altered by Act of Parliament. A new book beginning April 3rd, 1838, with the marriage of Stephen Billett and Mary Ann Hall.
A new book of registration of baptisms was begun, July 14th, 1889.

POPULATION AND CENSUS.

Population in 1085.

Domesday contains the earliest record of persons inhabiting the various parishes of Wilts. This book mentions in the survey of North Wraxhall, 3 serfs, 16 villeins, 5 bordars, 6 coccets, in all 30 men, and two mills employing at least 4 men; altogether 34 men, meaning 170 persons.

Castle Combe had 13 serfs, 5 villeins, 7 bordars, 5 cottars, and 3 mills, at the least 36 men, or 180 persons in all.

West Kington had 1 serf, 2 bordars, and one mill, at the least 5 men or 25 persons in all.

Population in 1676.

1676.—Henry Compton, youngest son of the Earl of Northampton, Bishop of Oxford in 1674, and Bishop of London from 1675 to 1713, was conspicuous in the reigns of Charles II. and James II., as a supporter of the protestants against the encroachments of Roman Catholics. He was preceptor to the two daughters of James II., the Princesses Mary and Anne, who both became Queens regnant. In them he instilled the principles of the Protestant faith, both of them he confirmed, both of them he married, the elder to William, Prince of Orange, and the younger to George, Prince of Denmark. For his opposition to the King's support of Roman Catholics, Bishop Compton was suspended for two years. *In June, 1688, he was one of the seven men who signed the invitation to William to take possession of the throne. April 11th, 1689, he crowned William and Mary. As soon as he became Bishop of London, he formed the project of uniting all protestants, of whatsoever denomination, against Papists. For this purpose in 1676 he caused a census to be made in each parish of persons over the age of 16 years, under the three heads of Church, Nonconformists, and Roman Catholics. No Roman Catholics were found in the parishes near Chippenham.

Castle Combe	...	252	Church and 8	Nonconformists,	total	260
Colerne	...	278	"	22	"	300
West Kington	...	140	"	3	"	143
North Wraxhall	...	117	"	7	"	124

In North Wraxhall at four censuses, 1871, 1881, 1891, 1901, 632 persons were enumerated below 16 years of age, and 1,059 above that age. By multiplying 1,059 by 6 and dividing by 10, we reach the number 632 nearly. By this rule the population of these parishes would be—

Castle Combe	...	260	above 16, and	156	below 16, or a total of	416.
Colerne	...	300	"	180	"	480
West Kington	...	143	"	87	"	230
North Wraxhall	...	124	"	76	"	200

* 1672, April 17, John Evelyn in his diary writes—"Heard Dr. Compton preach; this worthy person's talent is not preaching, but he is likely to make a grave and serious good man."

Census, 1801.

The first authoritative enumeration of the persons in this country was taken in 1801. It comprised also the number of houses in each parish, and of the families occupying the houses. A rough statement was attempted of the occupations of persons under three heads, (1) persons chiefly employed in agriculture, (2) persons chiefly employed in trade, manufactures, or handicraft, (3) all other persons not included in the two preceding classes.

In the decade between 1831 and 1841, Daniel Simmons, blacksmith, erected as many as sixteen cottages in the parish of North Wraxhall. Of these, five in the hamlet of North Wraxhall are called the "building." He built eleven of the twelve houses at Mountain Bower, the twelfth being then a stable. The first of these was erected in 1835. Simmons for some time lived in the house now belonging to the Bartletts. He migrated to Batheaston where he built the "Mount" on Bannerdown Hill.

Daniel Simmons was baptised November 15, 1778. His sister Jane, baptised February 25, 1781, married November 17, 1812, Samuel Wicks, and was buried June 19, 1864, aged 83 years. Samuel was baptised February 9, 1793, and was buried September 19, 1869, aged 77 years.

Census, 1841.

The Census made this year differs from the others in giving the number of people under, as well as above, 20 years of age, and also in distinguishing between those born in the county and those not so born.

	Houses.				Born.		Under 20.		Above 20.		Total.

Unknown Benefaction.

1834. A commission on the motion of Lord Brougham was ordered by Parliament to ascertain the various charities throughout England. The report contains the following account of an unknown benefactor of North Wraxhall: "It is believed in the parish that about fifty years ago five pounds was annually received by the Churchwardens on account of this charity; that it was paid by the then Mr. Methuen's steward, and distributed among the second poor.

There are no documents in the parish which make any mention of the charity, but it is believed in the parish that the donor was either a Mrs. Cecilia Wallis, daughter of Isaac Selfe, who died in January, 1760, or Thomas Methuen, Esquire, who died prior to 1795, both these persons having been noted in the parish for their charitable acts. Paul Methuen, son and heir of Thomas who married a Selfe, died in 1795.

Nothing has been received on account of any such charity for twenty-three or twenty-four years past. The present Churchwarden, Isaac Holborow, remembers the sum of five pounds having been annually paid to the parish officers by the former steward of Mr. Methuen, which sum was equally divided between Biddeston and Wraxhall Parishes. No account of its application appears to have been kept, except a list of persons who received the charity, which was immediately after distribution of the money, transmitted to the steward of Mr. Methuen."

Mr. Holborow was Churchwarden from 1833 to 1838. He or his father of the same christian name had held the office previously from 1824 to 1828.

Howell Benefaction.

John Howell, born in the Manor Farm April 23, 1776, died February 20, 1872. He was a munificent patron of his native parish. The beautiful picture in the Church was his gift. He founded two Almshouses to accommodate "four poor, old, and decayed persons, whether males or females, natives or having been inhabitants of long standing of the parish." He also bequeathed £600, half for the use of the School, half for the benefit of the Almshouses. With this money £666 13s. 4d., three per cent., consolidated annuities was bought in 1874. August 3, 1886, the sum of £50 consols representing the investment of unexpended income of the Almshouse Trust was purchased, and August 1888, the bonus on the conversion of consols £1 15s. 10d., and the bonus of £2 6s. 4d. on Mr. Bennett's legacy, with £29 4s. 8d. unexpended income from the Almshouse Fund, purchased £33 6s. 8d. consols. The whole fund now amounted to £750, of which £336 belongs to the School, and £414 to the Almshouses. March, 1903, the Almshouse Trust was increased to £864, and January, 1905, from unexpended income to £900.

Bennett Benefaction.

Mr. Richard Bennett, who died February 13, 1850, bequeathed £1,000 for the salaries of the teachers of the school. With this £927 10s. 5d. consols was brought in 1850, yielding £23 8s. 8d. a year. In 1888 on the conversion of consols, a bonus of £2 6s. 4d. was granted. This bonus was used towards increasing Mr. Howell's legacy of £333 6s. 8d. to £336 for the benefit of the school.

Mabbett Benefaction.

1880. January 23. Death at Stinchcombe, Gloucestershire, of Elizabeth Ann Mabbett, the daughter of John Mabbett of Stinchcombe, and Mary Holborow of North Wraxhall.

Her mother born, baptised May 22, 1777, married December 28, 1797, at North Wraxhall, the daughter of Isaac and Dorothy Holborow, grand-daughter of Isaac and Martha Holborow, and great grand-daughter of William and Ann Holborow. By her will, dated December 3, 1869, and proved August 27, 1880, she bequeathed four hundred pounds to the Rector and Churchwardens for the time being of the Parish of North Wraxhall to apply the interest thereof "for the benefit of the most deserving and necessitous inhabitants of the said Parish, to be selected for this purpose by the Rector and Churchwardens, for providing clothes, bedding and fuel as shall be considered by the said Rector and Churchwardens most advantageous to them, and that no funds of the charity shall be applied directly or indirectly to the relief of the poor rates of the said Parish."

The Charity Commissioners, Ryder Street, London, purchased £408 13s. 8d., consolidated three per cent. annuities. The first half-yearly dividends, £6 2s. 7d., was paid January 10, 1881. The annual income now is £10 4s. 4d. The bonus, £1 0s. 4d., given by the Government on the conversion of consols in 1888 was used towards raising the Hooper benefaction to £200.

Hooper Benefaction.

1842. August 4th, burial of Martha, wife of Edmund Bennett Hooper. She was the daughter of Isaac and Dorothy Holborow, and was baptised November 1st, 1772. By her will dated September 7, 1838, and proved November 29, 1842, she left the parish £100, the legacy to take effect after the death of her husband. He died in November, 1852, having bequeathed £100 to the parish, the interest of which was to be applied by the Rector and Churchwardens for supplying clothing to the poor. With this £200, £181 0s. 9d. consolidated three per cent. annuities was purchased.

In 1888, March 15, a further sum of £18 19s. 3d. consols was purchased, partly by the bonus 10s. (offered to facilitate the conversion into new stock, paying 2½ per cent. interest, and eventually 2½ per cent.) partly by the bonus 11s. 3d. on the Jubilee Fund, £224 13s., and the bonus £1 0s. 4d. on Miss Mabbett's legacy, and by the donation of £5 from Mrs. G. Holborow. This makes the charity £200, yielding £5 a year.

Jubilee Fund.

June 20, 1887, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the accession of Queen Victoria to the throne, a collection of £99 was made by the chief persons connected with the parish to establish a fund for providing the necessitous poor of the parish with fuel and clothing.

With this money £224 13s. consolidated 3 per cent. annuities were purchased.

March, 1903, an additional amount of consols was purchased to raise the sum to £400, the annual income being now £10, paid quarterly.

A specimen of the balance sheets issued every year containing the names of the recipients of the several charitable endowments is appended.

THE SCHOOL.

In 1818 parliament appointed a commission to collect evidence about the state of education among the poor in the country. The report from North Wraxhall was that no day school existed in the parish, but on Sundays the Rector (Michael Wyatt) instructed at his own expense about fifty children. Asked to make any remarks, the Rector stated that the "parish being agricultural, and the children employed as soon as they can walk, it is a great doubt whether the parents, if they had further means of education, would relinquish their weekly earnings for the sake of their instruction."

1832. A school and school-house were erected on a piece of waste ground, granted by the Lord of the Manor, Mr. Methuen. The "National Society for Promoting the Education of the Poor in the principles of the Established Church" contributed £35.

1850. Mr. Richard Bennett left the sum of £1,000, the income of which was to be spent on the school at the discretion of the rector. With this money £927 10s. 5d. consolidated 3 per cent. annuities was bought. In 1888 the interest was reduced to 2½, and in 1903 to 2¼. The annual income is £23 3s. 8d.

1864. For many years, the school was conducted by Mrs. Mary Pullen, the wife of Job Pullen. This year she retired on a pension, and was succeeded, November 3, by Miss Louisa Gait, a certificated mistress, and her sister, Miss Sarah Ann Gait, as assistant. The number of children on the books was forty-seven.

1866. January 15. Miss Elizabeth Gwillim was engaged as assistant mistress. Miss Gait's health failing, April 16, Mrs. Eliza Ann Dowding, born May 31, 1842, took charge of the school.

1867. July 18. The School visited and inspected by the Rev. Canon Barrow, Rector of West Kington, Diocesan Inspector of Schools. His report—"Inspected the School, and was much pleased with the reading of the children, their answers in Scripture and in the Catechism, and also with their needle-work."

1869. The schoolroom was raised, a wooden floor was put down, and another room built, 32½ feet long, 15 feet wide, and 16 feet high, at an expense of £400.

1869. February 16. The school visited by the Rev. H. K. Boldero, Rector of Grittleton, Diocesan Inspector of Schools. "The school is evidently well taught and cared for. There is a cheerful intelligent manner in the children which many another school may envy."

Sixty-six children were present at the inspection, out of 77 on the register.

1870. February 9. The school visited by the Rev. H. K. Boldero, Rector of Grittleton, Diocesan Inspector of Schools. "This school is a good specimen of what can be done by an uncertificated mistress, when the clergyman takes practical interest in the work. The cleanliness, manners, and discipline of the children, are very praiseworthy. The mental arithmetic of the first class attracts attention."

Forty-seven children were present at the inspection, out of 72 on the register.

September 12. Elizabeth Newman, born 1856, engaged as teacher. She leaves January 10, 1873, to be a pupil teacher at Stratton St. Margaret. After serving her time, she returns November 7, 1876, as assistant mistress.

1870. The governess having passed the qualifying examination under the Educational Department, Whitehall, London, the school became entitled to annual parliamentary grants from January 1st, 1871. Accommodation for 101 children was officially declared.

1871. June 12. School visited for the first time by a Government Inspector, the Rev. S. J. G. Fraser.

July 28. The report received—"The mistress appears to be a careful teacher, and with further experience in the technical methods of school management, will probably bring her scholars well on in their work. To-day the discipline was not satisfactory, and the examination of the lower classes showed that they were very backward. The elder classes passed a fair elementary examination."

The government grant £14 1s. 8d. for an average attendance of 56 children, for five months ending May 31.

1872. July 26. The school visited and examined in religious knowledge during morning school time by the Rev. H. C. Powles, Diocesan Inspector of Schools.

September 12. Report received—"In some respects this is an unusually good school. The discipline and order are excellent, though the mode of answering in the upper classes is rather noisy. The children have the advantage of the very frequent superintendence and instruction of the Rector, and whilst all the children were in proportion to their ages fairly informed on the subject of simple religious truths, the elder ones could give a good account of much Bible history and the contents of the Book of Common Prayer. I was particularly struck by the whole school being able to repeat well and intelligently the Nicene as well as the Apostles' creed. The school as at present conducted should be doing much good work in the neighbourhood."

June 10. Ann Coles, born 1857, engaged as teacher. She leaves September 12, 1879.

November 4. Mercy Kidd takes charge of the infants. She leaves March 8, 1878, as Mercy Bennett.

1873. January 10. Elizabeth Newman, teacher since September 12, 1870, leaves to be articled as pupil teacher at Stratton S. Margaret's. After serving her time, she returns as assistant mistress, November 7, 1876, receives a certificate in the third division, February, 1878, and leaves the school to take charge of the infants at Marshfield.

1873. June 18. School visited and examined by Mr. H. R. Mines, H.M. Inspector's Assistant.

August 18. Report received—"The mistress has a good control over the children, and has been very successful in their instruction."

December 26. Report received—"The infant class passed fairly, but had not been taught as much religious knowledge as the average of good schools. The school taken as a whole is well taught ordinary Scripture subjects, the written work was poorly done.

The children seem to be under excellent discipline."

July 31. E. A. Orchard, teacher since September 25, 1871, leaves the school.

August 24. Mary Ann Farmilo, born March 16, 1862, engaged as teacher. After serving as pupil teacher and receiving a certificate, she left to take charge of the school of West Kingston September 18, 1881.

August 31. Ada Emily Dawson, born October 10, 1861, engaged as teacher. After serving as pupil teacher and receiving a certificate, she became assistant mistress at Purton School March 30, 1883.

September 28. Alice Emma Sidwell, born May 1, 1860, engaged as teacher. After serving as pupil teacher, she left the school January 2, 1880, to enter the Home and Colonial Training College, Graysinn Road, London.

1875. May 12. School visited and examined by the Rev. S. J. G. Fraser, H.M. Inspector of schools.

July 1. Report received—"The children are very well behaved and in admirable order, and have passed a very satisfactory examination. The third standard was weak to-day in both spelling and arithmetic. Rather more neatness in working the sums would be an improvement."

October 22. School visited and examined in religious knowledge by the Rev. H. C. Powles, Diocesan Inspector.

October 29. Report received—"In consequence of unusually wet weather, the attendance on the day of my visit was much reduced. The staff employed (a mistress, four pupil teachers, and four monitresses), being unusually strong, all the classes were thoroughly looked after. The written work among the younger children was remarkably good, but they were not so well acquainted with the gospel narrative as with the Old Testament facts. The general religious knowledge of the upper class was, considering the age of the children, excellent. Discipline and order were unexceptionable."

December 10. Matilda Billett, teacher since November 21, 1871, leaves the school.

Frank Brokenbrow gained after competition a free scholarship at Colston's Hospital, Stapleton, Bristol.

1876. May 17. The school visited and examined by the Rev. S. J. G. Fraser, H.M. Inspector of schools.

June 8. The report received—"The school is in very good order, and has a very good supply of teachers. In some parts, however, the instruction has not been successful. The spelling of the second standard, and the reading and sums of the fifth standard were good. The reading of the fifth and sixth standards, repetition of the fifth and sixth, spelling of the second and fifth, sums of the first, second and fourth, and the botany of the fifth and ex-standard sixth, were all fairly good. Reading of the second and fourth standards, sums of the sixth and spelling of the third, were fair. The rest of the work of the standards was inferior, especially the spelling of the fourth standard, composition of the sixth, sums of the third, and botany of the fourth and sixth standards. Grammar, history and geography were on the whole satisfactory."

August 14. Report received—"These children are in admirable order, under a strong and efficient staff of teachers. The results of my examination were very creditable, and the paper work of some of the highest group unusually good. I was glad to observe also general accuracy in writing in the groups below the highest."

November 6. E. Newman, who had served as pupil teacher at Stratton S. Margaret's, engaged as teacher.

July 5. Report received—"The discipline of the school is very good, and there is a full and efficient teaching staff. June 11. Report received—"The general efficiency of the school is very fairly commensurate with the amount of labour bestowed upon it. Some of the standard work was very well done, and the girls seem to have been taught needlework very thoroughly. Report :—“The general knowledge of Holy Scripture displayed by the elder children is creditable in a high degree, and the method observable in their paper work is far beyond what is usually met with in a country school. Their knowledge of the first part of the Catechism was a little weak. The younger children also answered well, though their repetition of the Catechism was somewhat indistinct. I would suggest for the younger classes the learning of texts and hymns, and some private prayers for all.”

1883. May 10. School visited and examined.

July 27. Report received—"The elder children are in excellent order, and have passed well in the elementary subjects, the first standard having done their work thoroughly well. The composition of the sixth standard also was good, while the remaining portion of this work (except the spelling and arithmetic of the third standard), deserves high praise. The English repetition and grammar were, on the whole, fairly good, though the second and third standards were somewhat uncertain in their poetry, while the sixth standard shewed a very intelligent knowledge of their grammar.

The geography and history were barely satisfactory, chiefly owing to the backwardness of the second, third and fourth standards.

Infants.—The condition of this class, as to both discipline and attainments, is exceedingly creditable to the teaching staff. Though the infants over five, and under six, years of age are not so well advanced, the elder infants have done their work well, and very much to their and their teachers' credit, they have passed a very satisfactory examination in their portions, and their requirements for singing by note."

Dawson, in 1883, took the post of assistant mistress at Purton.

1884. May 23. School visited and examined by H.M. Inspector.

June 27. Report received—"The children are in admirable order and have passed a very satisfactory examination in the elementary subjects, as well as in English, geography, and history. The exercises in singing from notes have been performed with great readiness, and precision by the infants and the older scholars alike. The manifest care that is taken to render this school as useful an institution as possible has a most beneficial influence on the children's attendance. It is worthy of notice that of the sixty-eight scholars whose names appear on the examination schedule, thirty-seven have attended over four hundred times and eighteen have been present over four hundred and fifty times."

May 27. Catherine Matilda Martin, born March 16, 1870, engaged as teacher. She took charge of the school June 11, 1886, and left May 28, 1897.

May 27. Ann Wiltshire, born September 4, 1870, engaged as teacher. She ceased teaching May 21, 1893, and resumed May 1, 1906, as Ann Frankoom.

1884. August 11, the school mistress, Mrs. E. A. Dowding was seized with a fit of apoplexy and died within a few hours. The managers found a great difficulty in replacing her. The government grant was thus lost. The school continued to be inspected by H.M. Inspector, and has always been pronounced "efficient." The attendance has diminished to one half, owing to two causes, (1) the depopulation of country parishes; (2) the fact that neighbouring villages are now provided with ample educational equipment.

1885. May 8. School visited and examined by Messrs. Mines and Coombs Assistant Inspectors of Schools.

June 28. Report received—"Considering that the school has been without a certificated mistress during the last eight months, it is very satisfactory to find that the efficiency has been so little impaired. There has, it is true, been some falling off in the general character of the work of the third and higher standards; but, on the other hand, the children of the first standard and the few infants have done their work remarkably well; and a considerable measure of success has again attended the teaching of singing from notes. As there is no play-ground attached to the school, it is very desirable that some good system of school drill should be a feature of the daily routine."

Grant received of £19 4s. 5d., on an average attendance of 70 children, the school having been open 485 times.

1900. October. Primary Visitation of the Lord Bishop of Bristol. Among other questions put to the clergy of the diocese, he had enquired whether they visited or taught in the elementary schools of their parishes. In his charge, delivered October 25, at Chippenham, he says—"Let me read to you the facts, not the words, of answers of the kind to gladden a bishop's heart. The first is from a country parish, entirely agricultural: 'Every day nearly I teach in Holy Scripture and ordinary subjects.'"

In the Bath Chronicle this year were published some letters on the Education Act just passed, professing to be written by A. Knotcutter, P.G.M.U. He advocates the plan that the clergy should teach in elementary schools, especially those in rural districts. "It may be asked," he says in his letter, "Will any clergyman condescend to become the master of a National School? Has anything of the sort ever been heard of? That there have been, and are instances is a fact. How many, it is impossible to say. One case, at all events, may be quoted, and it is a remarkable one. There is a gentleman in Holy Orders who, as a student at Oxford, distinguished himself so highly that his college, one of the oldest and noblest in that university, bestowed upon him all the offices it had the power of conferring short of the headship, which, in his time, was not vacant. At last the fellows presented him with a rectory in a rural district. There he was led, and is leading, the life which, in these letters, has been recommended to others. And the example is a happy one. If the acquisition of the love of all who know him is worth having, that blessing is his. As a rule his life is spent among his people. Occasionally, however, he walks into that city, which, although the oldest in England, is, as it has always been, the gayest, and when there, he gives to his Literary Club, the benefit of his extensive learning and his good-humoured wit. After that, though the night may be dark and wintry, he trudges nine miles, over a lonely road, to his home. This long walk he likes, and he must return at once in order to open the National School in the morning, the school in which his days are spent. Many, no doubt, would like to know the name of this "working man," but it will not be given here, since to do so might interfere with his valuable work. If, however, Mr. Balfour, the present, or Earl Spencer, the next, premier, would like to be told, it would be at the service of either. And if any dispenser of patronage shall offer him a Deanery or a Bishopric, he will have conferred on himself, the giver, a higher honour than on the reverend master of a National School, the receiver."

The efficiency of the school is due in no small degree to the fewness of holidays, the number of times when the school is open varying between 487 and 478 as shewn supra page 10. The school is also open twice, for an hour-and-a-half each time every Sunday, Good Friday and Christmas Day for religious instruction.

Two letters, dated respectively December 17, 1899, and November 30, 1900, from Mr. Fuller, of Neston Park, contain references to North Wraxhall School.

“Your scheme for paying the teachers by the day is novel, but it sounds right in principle. No holiday, too, (except harvest), is unusual; if the effect is to improve the attendance, the limit is very valuable, as especially as I find the teachers are more anxious than the children for holidays, half or whole. There can be no doubt the schools should be opened at least 450 times in a year, and in order to get this, the teachers should reap a benefit.”

“I observe that you draw nothing from the Education Department, and therefore you hold yourself responsible for the education of every child in your parish. The result is most excellent, and the venture, I should think, unique. I observe, too, the vast difference between a real educationalist and the ordinary paid school teacher; in your case, your object is the largest number of days the school is opened—even avoiding holidays—; the latter’s object is the fewest days for opening the school with the longest holidays allowable.”

Verses suggested by seeing the Rector of a Wiltshire village, surrounded by some School Children of his Parish.

1890. November 30. Under this date the rector received from Mr. George Rees, a gentleman staying in Marshfield, the following letter :

"On coming from Ford, last Tuesday week, I had the pleasure of meeting you, surrounded by children, as the day was passing away. The scene, to me, appeared so beautiful and symbolical, that it called forth the few humble lines you will find in the paper (The Bath Chronicle) accompanying this. My poor muse has done but little justice to the theme, but "it is with pleasure that I forward you the copy."

Oft have I read sweet Goldsmith's homely strain
Of Auburn, loveliest village of the plain,
Admired the good old rector painted there,
So "passing rich on forty pounds a year,"
A loving man, of noble heart and mind,
Contented, God-like, peaceable and kind,
And wondered if the church did ever boast
Of such an one, among its mighty host ;
When lo ! to-day a picture met my view,
That made me feel the poet's words were true.
Thick vapoury mists were floating o'er the hills
And veiled the bosoms of the chanting rills,
As, rapt in thought, I watched the evening gray
Succeed the beauty of the autumn day.
Along the country road, away from strife
And all the din that crowd the city life,
I walked, and marked the deep serenity
That clothed the earth in noble majesty.
Midway upon the hill I met a group
Of happy lads with satchel and with hoop,
Whilst following them, with unaffected mien,
I saw what in this world is rarely seen :
The parish rector, with benignant face,
Where love and wisdom found their proper place,
Some children led, in true disciple style,
And walked and talked, and smiled on them the while !
I plainly saw how pleased the children were,
For pleasure lit their countenances fair ;
And by the absence of restraint I knew
These walks with him they loved were nothing new.
A wave of joy went surging through my soul,
Bright scenes of heaven before my vision stole,
And as he spoke in gentle tones to me,
I could but think a man of God was he !

His life I knew to be no hollow form,
He lived his Master's orders to perform ;
With tender care he tends his Father's flock,
And seeks to place their feet upon the rock ;
Devoted thus, he lives from day to day,
And scatters seeds of kindness on his way.
Ye so-called men, in priestly robes arrayed,
And whom the schools (not God) have preachers made,
Who to the pulpit take your varnished strain,
And leave it there till sabbath comes again,
Who for the loaves and fishes merely preach,
Forgetting here to practise what you teach,
Who to the wealthy grovel in the mire,
That ye may realise some fond desire,
And leave the true aggressive Christian's ground
For fear that ye their darling sins should wound ;
Ye who within the church's sacred pale,
Bow down and worship forms of no avail ;
Who love in ease and luxury to live,
With all the wealth the world can ever give,
Whilst all around you sad unheeded cries
Of hungry ones, rise upwards to the skies ;
Ye, living thus, awake from sleep of shame,
And, as the rector, learn to live the same.
It was not thus your Saviour daily strove ;
His was a life of sacrifice and love !
Come out, and mingle with the struggling poor,
And in their breasts awaken hope once more ;
Live less for self and more for those who fight
Almost in vain 'gainst poverty and night.
